2 Marion Men Lose Lives in Mishaps Here

Two persons were killed in two accidents here Tuesday. One man was killed at N. Main and Farming Sts. Tuesday night, while another met his death when he fell from a moving truck at the city dump Tuesday afternoon.

They were:

Ralph M. Craig, 54, of 352 N. Main St.

Carl Large, 57, of 890 Bennett St.

The deaths raised the number of persons killed in traffic accidents in the city to two and the number of persons killed outside the city to 13, making a total of 15 persons killed this year in the county.

Large was killed at 1:10 Tuesday afternoon at the city dump. Sheriff's deputies said he was riding in a city-owned truck and fell out the right hand door and under the wheels of the vehicle.

Driver of the truck was Raymond H. Honaker, 33, of 1085 Woodrow Ave. He is a heavy equipment operator at the city dump.

He told deputies his equipment needed gasoline and he went to a shanty on the dump site where the truck was parked. He and Large got in the truck to go obtain gasoline.

Right Door Flew Open

Honaker said he was turning the truck around to head out of the dump when the right door flew open and Large fell from the vehicle. The victim fell under the wheels of the truck and the vehicle passed over him before Honaker was able to stop, deputies were told.

Large's body was taken to the Boyd Funeral Home following investigation of the accident.

Ralph Craig was hit at N. Main St. near Farming St. at 11:40 p.m. Tuesday by a car driven by Lawrence E. Mull, 30, of 438 Park St.

Police reported Craig was running from the northwest corner to the northeast corner of Farming St., across Main St. and Mull was northbound on N. Main St.

North of Intersection

Police said Craig was jaywalking as he was approximately 25 feet north of the intersection.

Craig was struck by the car and carried or knocked about 30 feet from the point of impact.

He was taken to Marion General Hospital where he died at 1:15 this morning of a crushed right chest and abrasions of the head.

After the impact, Mull's car skidded about 30 feet. A witness on the scene said Craig started to walk across the street, then suddenly began to run. Mull said he never saw Craig until he hit him.

Craig's body was removed to the Boyd Funeral Home.

Carl Edward Large was born Sept. 11, 1897, in Lawrence County, a son of David and Ella Martin Large, the father a native of Jackson County and the mother of Lawrence County. He was caretaker at the city disposal grounds.

Surviving are his mother who lives at 890 Bennett St. and four

Funds Would Be Used for Adding Wing

Commissioners Place Tax on Ballot; Four Schools Request Levies

Voters in Marion County will be asked to decide the fate of a proposed hospital addition on the Marion County Home at the Nov. 8 general election.

The Board of County Commissioners Tuesday filed a petition with the board of elections to place a five-mill levy issue on the ballot in November, with the money to be used for the construction of the hospital addition.

Would Run 2 Years

The levy would run for two years, according to the petition. It will require 60 per cent approval for passage.

Proposed improvements in the County Home have been under study for some time. Former superintendent Clarence Keil recommended construction of a fireproof addition to be used as a hospital for the aged patients.

Before his retirement, Keil repeatedly called for the new hospital wing as a safety measure and as a means of relieving overcrowded conditions in the home.

He pointed out that the hospital section of the home was filled to capacity and applicants for admission were being turned away because of lack of space to house them. He also said that in the last several years the number of bedfast patients at the home had been steadily increasing.

The Marion Chamber of Commerce also made a study of the County Home situation and urged the county to sell the present home site and purchase a new spot in a different section of the county. It reported the present home was no longer capable of filling the needs of the aged persons in the area and a new building was a necessity.

Deadline Today

The petition for the five-mill levy was only one of more than 60 filed with the Board of Elections Tuesday and Wednesday morning as the filing deadline of 4 p.m. this afternoon neared.

Four other levies, all in local school districts in the county, also were filed. These were filed by the Grand Prairie Local Board of Education, the Meeker Local School District, the Morral Local School District and the Claridon Local School District.

The Grand Prairie issue is a seven-mill operating levy for a period of five years. It consists of the renewal of an existing 2.8-mill levy and an existing 3.7-mill levy and the addition of a .5-mill levy.

Meeker's issue is a six-mill levy for current operating expenses. It also is for a five-year period and consists of the renewal of a 5.6-mill existing levy and an increase of .4 of a mill.

The Morral levy calls for four mills for current expenses and is a renewal of an existing levy of 1.933 mills with an addition of

ROBERT JACOB MILLER
Confesses Killing Parents

Youth Admits Slaying Mother And Stepfather

Hit Them With Fists, Hammer and Knives, He Says in Confession

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Nineteen-year-old Robert J. Miller, released this spring from a federal reformatory, was held in city jail today after police said he confessed the bludgeon slayings of his mother and step-father.

Franklin County Prosecutor Samuel L. Devine said Miller may be charged later today or tomorrow, depending on the outcome of further questioning by the city homicide squad.

Signs Confession

Police said Miller, arrested last night in Cambridge, signed a confession admitting he battered his parents to death in the bedroom of their five room Columbus home Saturday morning.

The parents, Gomer Thomas, 50, and his wife, Betty, 39, were found lying in a pool of blood Monday.

Miller had been released from the Federal Reformatory at Chillicothe last April 5 where he had been serving a sentence under the juvenile delinquency act. Authorities said he had been in trouble with the law for seven years.

The State Highway Patrol said Miller, in his confession, told of killing his parents "in a fit of anger" after his mother argued with him about a girl he had been dating.

Prosecutor Devine said he felt the argument over the girl was only part of the motive for the slayings.

Devine said Miller was unclear as to whether he knew his parents were dead after he left the house.

Beat Her With Fists

The patrol said Miller's confession went like this:

He pounded his mother with his fists following the argument. When his step-father came into the room, carrying a hammer, Miller began hitting him too. Devine said Thomas dropped the hammer when the blows were struck.

Finally, "violently angry," Miller picked up what he said were "instruments" and assaulted his parents, Devine said the in-

11 Airmen Head For Home in 2 Big Transports

Will Have Layover in Hawaii; Ex-POWs Due In United States Friday

TOKYO, (AP)—Eleven U.S. airmen who spent 32 long months in Communist captivity sped eastward across the Pacific to home and family today.

Two plush C54 air transports—one Gen. Douglas MacArthur's famed Bataan—left Tachikawa Air Base with the men early this afternoon. After a 27-hour layover in Hawaii they are due at Travis Air Force Base, Calif., Friday morning.

Aboard the Bataan are Col. John Knox Arnold Jr., Capt. John Vaadi, Capt. Elmer F. Llewellyn, Airman Harry M. Benjamin Jr. and Airman John W. Thompson III.

The second group, in a sister ship decorated and outfitted exactly like the Bataan, included Maj. William H. Baumer, Lt. Wallace L. Brown, Lt. John W. Buck, T. Sgt. Howard W. Brown, Airman Steven E. Kiba and Airman Daniel C. Schmidt.

In Honolulu the men will be welcomed today by pretty girls bearing flower leis. After a brief news conference, an Air Force spokesman said, the men "will be free to go anywhere and do anything they want—just like tourists."

They will be quartered in the best guest quarters of Hickam Air Force Base but "they can stay at the Royal Hawaiian Hotel if they want."

The men will be given colorful aloha shirts and a chance to go sightseeing or night-lifing.

Hurricane Hovers Off U.S. East Coast

HATTERAS, N. C. (AP)—Hurricane Connie, her mighty fist cocked at the Carolina coastline, held off the blow today. The destructive storm lolled offshore and kept observers guessing where she would strike.

The whole East Coast was alert to her danger.

Off Myrtle Beach

The Weather Bureau in an 11 a.m. (EST) advisory placed the storm center 225 miles southeast of Myrtle Beach, S.C., and said there was little movement and probably would be little for 12 hours.

The peak wind may have dropped from 135 to 125 miles an hour, the bureau said. Any wind over 75 miles an hour is hurricane force.

Hurricane warnings were hoisted from Myrtle Beach, vacation spot where Hazel came ashore last year, to the Virginia capes.

The bureau said the future path of Connie is uncertain, but winds probably would reach gale force on the North Carolina coast tonight and hurricane force by Thursday morning with the center likely to head for Cape Lookout, southwest of here.

The entire Eastern Seaboard, remembering three 1954 hurricanes which killed more than 250 persons and caused upward of 1¼ billion dollars damage, girded for any eventuality and kept a watchful eye on Connie's progress.

Waves Pound Beach

Towering waves and high tides already pounded the North Carolina shore and hard tropical showers pelted residents and vacationers moving to safety away from the beaches. Beaches took on a deserted look of winter.

Mamie Resting In Bed After Busy Weekend

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP)—On advice of her physician, Mamie Eisenhower has been taking it easy—resting in bed at her country home here. But a presidential aide says the first lady is "not ill—merely tired."

President Eisenhower himself disclosed Tuesday that his wife was in bed, but he added: "She'll be all right."

Murray Snyder, assistant White House press secretary, told newsmen later in response to their inquiries:

"She (Mrs. Eisenhower) is not ill. She is merely tired. She had a very active weekend—she had several guests and is just tired. You know, it was very hot up here."

Mrs. Eisenhower motored to the family farm from Washington Friday and was joined later that day by the President, who is spending the week here acting on the big batch of bills which Congress passed just before it adjourned. The chief executive plans to leave Sunday for an extended vacation in Denver.

The White House said last week Mrs. Eisenhower probably would remain at the family farm here when the President goes to Denver, which is her hometown. Snyder said Tuesday she still is planning to go to Colorado when the President flies back east for a day on Aug. 24 to address the American Bar Assn. convention in Philadelphia.

Shouting Koreans Again Rush at Inspection Team

SEOUL (AP) — Three hundred shouting Koreans, ignoring a "no violence" edict by President Syngman Rhee, stormed the causeway to Wolmi Island again today but were turned back by U.S. troops manning tear gas guns and fire hoses.

The milling demonstrators, continuing South Korea's campaign to drive out Communist members of neutral truce inspection teams, broke up quickly before the determined stand.

Drive Up To Barricades

Waving banners and chanting slogans, the mob drove as far as barbed wire barricades thrown up by the Americans, then faltered and retreated.

They were trying to reach the billets of Czech and Polish members of the inspection groups stationed on the island just outside the port of Inchon.

It was the third attempt to storm the island in five days. The disorders began last Saturday with an ultimatum for the Communist inspectors to get out by midnight next Saturday.

Twenty-two Americans and 80 Koreans have been injured, none seriously.

The Inchon demonstration contrasted sharply with the comparative quiet that settled over the other four ports where the inspectors operate.

Parade in Streets

At Kunsan on the west coast, Pusan on the southeast tip of the peninsula, Kangnung on the east coast, and Taegu in south central Korea mild demonstrations were reported.

Crowds of Korean Army veterans moved through the streets shouting "the Communist must get out of Korea." They carried signs and placards but no clashes were reported with troops guarding inspection team billets.

The calmer atmosphere followed an announcement by President Syngman Rhee that he disapproved "Acts of violence." He called the demonstrations "a normal expression of patriotism."

In Washington, U. S. officials are keeping a close watch on Korean developments. They sympa-

Teller $46,000 Short, Says He Lost the Money

NEW YORK (AP)—A young bank teller, who says $46,000 mysteriously disappeared from the bank, is being held on charges of embezzling the money.

William Gerard Gravius, 26, arrested Tuesday at a summer bungalow in East Hampton on Long Island, told police the money disappeared after he set it aside to deposit in the bank vault last week. He said he was too scared to tell anyone about it.

The fact that the funds were missing was discovered in a bank audit Friday at the Hillside Avenue branch of the Jamaica National Bank. Gravius, who lives at East Meadow, N.Y., has worked at the bank seven years. His salary was $63 a week.

Police said he gave this explanation:

On the day before the audit he had taken $46,000 from his drawer and carried it to the vault. When he didn't find the head teller to check the money, he left it on the floor of the vault tagged with a slip saying it came from his account.

Three hours later he went back to the vault and discovered the money was gone but was too frightened to tell anyone about it.

Police said the teller was a frequent visitor to trotting race tracks and he explained a recent $2,000 deposit in his personal account as being the result of successful track bets.

Stassen Tests Sentiment

Governors Sounded Out On Ike's Peace Proposal

CHICAGO (AP)—Harold E. Stassen tested support among the nation's governors today for President Eisenhower's proposal for an exchange of military blueprints between the United States and Russia.

Stassen, former Minnesota governor, circulated unofficially as the 47th annual Governors Conference prepared to swing into a discussion of highways and highway safety, punctuated by a disagreement over Eisenhower's bond-financed road-building program.

May Be Presented Anew

The fact that Eisenhower had sent Stassen here to test state-by-state sentiment on his plan for reciprocal aerial inspection of Soviet military installations was regarded in some quarters as indicating the plan will be refurbished or presented anew at the forthcoming meeting of the United Nations Disarmament subcommittee.

Russian Premier Nicolai Bulganin first rejected the Eisenhower inspection plan but later said the Russians would consider it.

Eisenhower told his news conference recently some new ideas would be offered to the U.N. group by Stassen.

May Feel He's In Race

Governors, meanwhile, kicked the political football around with few tangible results. Democrats persisted without much public success in trying to force into the open Adlai E. Stevenson's palpable intention to go after the 1956 Democratic presidential nomination.

Stevenson himself said he has heard "both views" with some Democrats suggesting that he tell his plans "somewhat later."

Gov. Averell Harriman of New York, who might be one of the top contenders for the nomination,

Ohio Mother, Daughter Killed in Auto Accident

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (AP)—A Perrysburg mother and her young daughter were killed early today when their car leaving the Wood County Fairgrounds collided with another auto.

The victims were Mrs. Dorothy Redman, 32, and her 4-year-old daughter, Barbara Ann.

Harold Redman, the husband and father, was the driver, police said. He suffered a broken arm; and rib and leg injuries. Mrs. Rhoda Herbert of Bowling Green, driver of the other car, was unhurt.

Water Line at Hospital Breaks, Fire Hose Fills In

A stretch of fire hose more than 1,200 feet long kept Marion General Hospital supplied with water last night while Marion Water Co. workmen repaired a break in a main line leading to the hospital.

The break, first observed at about 6:30 p.m., was repaired at 9:30 p.m. Water company officials believe the eight-inch main broke because of settling of a nearby sewer line trench.

L. OTIS PORTER, manager of the water company, had high praise today for city employes and officials who "cooperated 100 per cent" in the quick repair of the break. He singled out in particular acting Fire Capt. Paul Sifritt, who called out the fire trucks to rig up an emergency water line to the hospital; Safety Service Director John Davis, who assisted in the operation, Miss Florence Blough, superintendent of nurses at the hospital, and George Deigle, hospital engineer.

The broken main was discovered by Carl Gianero, who has a plumbing shop at Whitmore and Prospect St. He saw the water spurting up in a field behind his home.

WATER COMPANY officials, after inspecting the break, called on the fire department for assistance, following a plan set up in advance should a break ever threaten the hospital's water supply.

Firemen began stringing hose from a hydrant on Thew Ave. through McKinley Park to the hospital, completing the job about 7:15. Water company crews then began to dig up the line, and placed a permanent repair sleeve on it.

Most of the work was done during a rainfall.

At no time during the repair work did the water pressure at the hospital fall below normal, Porter reported.

House Group To Investigate

Probe Slated To Discover If Information Withheld

WASHINGTON (AP) — Just what kind of information do government agencies withhold from the public, the press, radio and TV and Congress — and why?

Do the agencies give out enough information to keep the public informed of what goes on in its government?

A House Government Operations subcommittee set out today to determine the answers. It was established specifically to inquire into government information policies.

Sends Big Questionnaire

It sent out 5½ pages of questions asking all federal executive and independent agencies to explain by Sept. 15 their practices and policies in giving out information.

Said the subcommittee chairman, Rep. Moss (D-Calif):

"Through a cooperative effort we can determine the basic information policies of the federal agencies and find out, once and for all, whether there is arbitrary and capricious action because of a lack of definite, consistent policies."

Accusations Made

In announcing the study last June 23, Chairman Dawson (D-Ill) of the full Government Operations Committee said accusations had been made that government agencies are withholding and suppressing information. He did not identify the accusers.

Criticism has been focused on a March 29 directive from Secretary of Defense Wilson saying that information from the Pentagon must be "constructive" to the mission of the Defense Department. A Pentagon spokesman said later the criteria was not meant to be applied to newsmen's questions but only to information originating in the department's public relations offices. The directive has been criticized by some professional newsmen's organizations.

Tribe Takes Second With 4-2 Verdict Over Detroit

Ray Narleski Saves Score; Garcia Handed Call Tonight

CLEVELAND (AP)—After the loss of three in a row to seventh-place Washington, last night's 4-2 victory over Detroit was just what the Cleveland Indians needed to lift morale in the wigwam and quiet down Big Chief Al Lopez' ulcers.

The victory moved the Tribe a half game ahead of the New York Yankees, who dropped to third with their 4-1 loss to Boston. But it gained Cleveland nothing on Chicago's White Sox who won 4-1 in Kansas City and still lead the hectic pennant chase by a half game.

The Indians got only fair pitching from rookie Herb Score last night, and they collected only seven hits. Gene Woodling hit two singles and a double, and Al Smith rapped a single to run his string of consecutive games with safe hits to a club high for the season—11.

Woodling, who has hit .299 since he came to the Indians from Baltimore where he was hitting only .221, now seems to have clinched the left field job.

Big Inning Helps

One rally against Ned Garver was all Cleveland needed to win. In the second inning Larry Doby and Hal Naragon walked and George Strickland blooped a single which scored Doby. Score grounded out, but Smith singled Naragon and Strickland home and then made it all the way from first on Woodling's double.

When Woodling and Vic Wertz led off the fifth with singles, Garver was removed with his 11th loss against 10 won. From there on the Tribe went hitless against a parade of four Tiger reliefers.

Score held Detroit's batting power to four hits in the six innings he worked, but he gave eight bases on balls to keep himself in constant hot water. He struck out five, mowing down three in the sixth after walking the first two batters, but he failed to finish the following inning. Score's season record now is 11-9 with 174 strikeouts and 120 walks.

In the seventh, Smith dropped an easy fly by Bill Tuttle, and Al Kaline doubled. Jack Phillips grounded for the second out, Tuttle scoring, and Ray Boone brought Kaline home with a single.

Rally Stopped

Ray Narleski took over at this point and for the rest of the way the Tigers hit only one ball out of the infield in addition to a lone single Kaline rapped in the ninth.

Al Schroll Gets Decision After Four-Hit Chore

By The Associated Press

Denver was the only first division team to lose in American Assn. action last night. The Bears lost to Louisville, 2-1, and dropped two games behind the league leader, Minneapolis.

The Millers downed Charleston, 9-8. Utility infielder Harry Hanebrink hit his fourth and fifth home runs of the season to drive in five runs and spark Toledo to a 10-1 decision over St. Paul, and Omaha came from behind to tie the score in the eighth inning and then scored three times in the ninth to beat Indianapolis, 8-5.

Al Schroll fashioned a four-hitter for Louisville. Only Herb Plews gave him trouble, getting three of the hits. Jack Urban and John Kucab allowed nine Louisville hits with Don Buddin and Frank Malzone getting two each.

Hanebrink, who hit a grand slam, the first of his professional career, in Toledo's 9-3 victory over St. Paul Monday night, capped a 7-run sixth inning last night with a 3-run homer off loser Johnny Rutherford, and repeated in the eighth off Billy Darden with a mate on base.

Joe Jay, bonus rookie shipped down several weeks ago by the Milwaukee Braves, pitched an eight-hitter, all singles, and had a shutout until the ninth.

Tight Battle Forecast in Golf Action

By JERRY LISKA

CHICAGO (AP)—It might not make a particle of difference in the $100,000 World tourney starting Thursday, but national golf prestige is at stake in Tam O'Shanter's international matches which close today with a promised dogfight.

In Tuesday's opening round of the TAM version of the Ryder Cup matches, an eight-member United States team nudged to a 2½-1½ lead over a foreign team in foursome competition.

The same 16 players pair off today in eight matches which may produce as close a finish as last year's opening international competition resulting in a 6½-5½ American victory.

This sideshow which serves as a free admission lure between last weekend's All-American and the rich World with its $50,000 cash first prize will have these windup pairings:

Doug Ford, national champion and new All-American winner, vs. Roberto de Vincenzo, an Argentine registering from Mexico City.

Leo Biagetti, Willoughby, Ohio, All-American runner-up, vs. Kel Nagle, Sydney, Australia.

Jimmy Demaret, Kiamesha Lake, N.Y., vs. Stan Leonard, Vancouver, B.C.

Ted Kroll, Utica, N.Y., vs. Yoshiro Hayashi, Tokyo, Japan.

Freddie Haas Jr., Claremont, Calif., vs. Angel Miguel Gutierez, Madrid, Spain.

Tony Holguin, Midlothian, Ill., vs. Peter Thomson, Melbourne, Australia.

Jay Hebert, Woodmere, N.Y., vs. Rudy Horvath, Canada.

Bo Wininger, Oklahoma City, Okla., vs. Antonio Cerda, Buenos Aires.

In Tuesday's play, Ford and Biagetti got a surprise 3 and 2 drubbed from Gutierez, the Spanish champion who doesn't speak a word of English, and Thomson.

Demaret and Haas beat Horvath and Cerda 6 and 4, and Kroll and Holguin beat De Vicenzo and Nagle 5 and 4.

The fourth match was a deadlock between America's Hebert-Wininger team and the Leonard-Hayashi duo, giving each squad a half point.

Michigan has 52,000 more people moving into it than move out in an average year.

Pitcher Belts Homer, Starts Free-for-All

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP)—Rene Vega, who may be the first pitcher in baseball to start a fight after hitting a home run, marked up his twenty-sixth victory Tuesday night and is the winningest hurler in the game today.

The 28-year-old Cuban is having a rollicking time with Corpus Christi in the Big State League and has ambitions to go to the majors.

That fight he started occurred Friday night. Rene was winning his twenty-fifth game. He slugged a homer and as he rounded the bases he laughed at pitcher Bill Bagwell of Port Arthur and pointed to the fence where the horsehide had disappeared. Bagwell threw a baseball at him. The portly Cuban grabbed a fungo bat and started for Bagwell. It caused a free-for-all and Bagwell and Rene were thumbed out of the park.

In whipping Harlingen 10-1 Tuesday night, Vega gave up only nine hits. It was his 11th straight victory. He has lost two.

Basilio, Scortichini Clash in TV Fight

NEW YORK (AP)—Welterweight champion Carmen Basilio tonight faces Italy's Italo Scortichini in a nontitle 10-rounder at Madison Square Garden.

The 28-year-old 147-pound king, idle since he lifted the crown from Tony DeMarco two months ago, is a 3-1 favorite to whip the stocky middleweight in their third meeting.

ABC will broadcast and telecast at 9 p.m. EST.

Stock Car Racing Card Set Sunday at Oval Here

Seven events will be staged Sunday at the Marion Speedway after rain marred the program last week. A spokesman for the track said admission prices would be cut for the next event.

Rainfall over the weekend washed the oil from the track but work is currently under way to reoil the oval in an effort to keep the dust down.

Ray Hickman of LaRue won the feature race on Sunday's card. Dick Britton of Marysville won one heat dash with Carl Heffelfinger of Upper Sandusky taking the other.

Boston Wins 4-1

Nixon Checks Yanks; Chisox Win Against Kansas City 4-1

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Staff Writer

That American League pennant race is really a dilly. Where else could a team lose three straight to the seventh-place club, then win one from the fifth-place member and still edge upward into second place?

Cleveland did just that in its last four games. They blew a three-game set at Washington and dropped out of a virtual three-way tie for the lead, then moved up again with a 4-2 decision over Detroit Tuesday night.

The Indians took a half-game lead over the New York Yankees, beaten by Boston 4-1. The Chicago White Sox stayed half a game ahead of Cleveland with a 4-1 success at Kansas City.

Fourth-place Boston was 1½ games behind Chicago.

Southpaw Billy Pierce took over for the White Sox, checking the Athletics on two hits—both by Bill Wilson, who banged a homer with two out in the ninth.

Win on Homer

Boston powered past the Yanks on homers by Billy Klaus and Grady Hatton while Willard Nixon was doin' what comes naturally—scattering six Yank hits for his fourth victory in five decisions against the New Yorkers this season.

The two homers and a single were the only hits Boston got off loser Whitey Ford until the ninth. Then a single and Nixon's double made it 4-1.

Bill Wight four-hit Washington for a 1-0 Baltimore victory in the first game of a twi-night pair; then Roy Sievers homered twice

Brown Fears Upset

Collegians Polishing Aerial Attack for All-Star Classic

CHICAGO (AP) —The College All Stars will fight fire with fire when they meet the Cleveland Browns Friday night and on the arms of some of the nation's top quarterbacks ride the possibilities of an upset.

Following last year's 31-6 loss to Detroit, fourth straight suffered by the Stars, sponsors of the game finally decided the pros couldn't be beat without an efficient passing attack.

The late Arch Ward, sports editor of the Chicago Tribune and originator of the game, announced after the defeat that the Stars would employ professional coaches in the future.

Curly Lambeau, football pioneer at Green Bay and later coach of the Chicago Cardinals and Washington Redskins, was named to the job.

Lambeau and his pro assistants decided to pick out the players they wanted. They selected big, fast linemen; hard-hitting, good blocking fullbacks, and halfbacks who can do everything.

In addition, they named five quarterbacks including All American Ralph Guglielmi of Notre Dame; Dave Leggett, the brain trust who led Ohio State to a national championship; Paul Larson, California's pass master; Oregon ace George Shaw and Tom Carey of Notre Dame

If the Stars do upset the Browns who are favored by 12 points, it'll be with passing. Hunk Anderson, former Chicago Bear line coach who is one of Lambeau's assistants, said "You can't score on the ground in pro football unless you're lucky. You have to throw touchdowns."

All Star receivers will be ends Max Boydston of Oklahoma, Henry Hair of Georgia Tech, Jim Hanifan of California who was one of Larson's favorite targets, and Dean Dugger of Ohio State.

Ends, however, will not be the only targets for the All Star quarterbacks. Lambeau hopes to break loose such halfbacks as Dick Moegle of Rice, Bobby Watkins of Ohio State, Frank Bernardi of Colorado, Frank Eidom of Southern Methodist and Marquette's Ron Drzewiecki.

In front of this array of talent will be one of the biggest lines ever fielded by an All Star team.

Cleveland Coach Paul Brown is one of many who is impressed by the All Stars. Brown told his charges Tuesday that they can "expect to run into an All Star squad the likes of which no other pro club has had to face"

Isaly Squad Evens Playoff For City Title

Marion's 1955 city Little League crown is up for grabs tonight at Robert Scott Field.

Isaly Dairy evened the best two out of three game series at a game apiece last night by whipping Vance Spoting Goods 10-1.

Randy Leedom held the losers to one hit in halting Vance's bid for two straight wins and the Little League title.

He was tagged for the lone Vance marker in the opening frame on no hits and blanked them the rest of the way while Isaly scored twice in the first, twice in the third and six times in the fifth to rout the National League champs.

Leedom struck out nine and walked seven. He gave a lead-off walk to Ken Coffae in the first and he eventually scored on an error to put Vance ahead for the only time in the game.

Three hits accounted for two Isaly markers in the first and quickly erased the Vance 1-0 lead. Leedom doubled and Gene Dulin's single brought him in. Larry Ishida followed with a two-bagger to drive in Dulin.

Leedom started off a two-run third inning with a lead-off double. Ishida took first on an interference call and then two walks issued by Isaly's Larry Crowe enabled Leedom to come in. Ishida scored on an error.

The winners climaxed their scoring with six on only three hits in the fifth.

Ishida led off the frame by clubbing a home run. Jim Jonsson walked, moved to second on a sacrifice by Ricky Ishida, and after John Gilbert drew the second walk of the inning, reached third on a single by George Norris. Carroll Flinchbaugh was hit by the pitcher and Jonsson walked in with the second run of the frame. An error enabled Gilbert so score and both Norris and Flinchbaugh were driven in when Leedom banged out a single. Larry Pickett, who had reached base on a fielder's choice, tallied the final marker on an infield out. Crowe hit a pair of batters before retiring the side on a strikeout.

Crowe allowed only seven hits but walked six and hit three batters.

Leedom with three hits and Larry Ishida with two were Isaly's hitting stars. Coffae collected the lone Vance hit when he led off the fifth with a single. Two more walks followed but Vance was unable to score.

Montreal Lead In IL Reduced To One Length

By The Associated Press

Veteran righthander John Mackinson has become Ol' Reliable for the Rochester Red Wings in the International League.

The 32-year-old hurler from Orange, N. J., has produced some brilliant pitching in his last three outings. Mackinson came up with a neat two-hit shutout as his mates bombed the first place Montreal Royals 9-0 last night. In his past two tries Mackinson stopped the Buffalo Bisons. His first effort was a three-hit one run affair, and in his next outing he stopped the Bisons on five hits and one run.

The Montreal loss coupled with a Toronto 1-0 victory over Buffalo cut the Royals first place margin to one game. The Syracuse Chiefs kept the Havana Sugar Kings two games off the pace by blanking the Cubans 4-0 and the Richmond Virginians downed the Columbus Jets 3-1.

The Viginians capitalized on two unearned runs in the seventh inning to take the series from the Jets four games to two. Dick Hoover, obtained over the weekend from Toledo of the American Association, yielded three hits in his debut with the Jets, but three Columbus errors were his undoing. Jocko Thompson had a no-hitter going into the eighth inning when the Jets combined three hits and a forceout for their lone run. Russ Kerns homered for the Virginians in the seventh.

Herbert Hoover

By George Sokolsky

On a blistering, hot Sunday afternoon, I watched Pierre Monteux conduct the Boston Symphony Orchestra at Tanglewood in an all Brahms program. I say, watched, because I would not take my eyes off this man of 80, fresh, fluent, exciting, more youthful in spirit than many of the youngsters who suffer from Weltschmerz in these days of uncertainty. That afternoon, I dropped in to see Fritz Kreisler, 80, and his wife, Harriet, 85. We talked of Herbert Hoover, who today is 81 years old.

SOKOLSKY

Age seems to be unrelated to years among men and women who live full lives. Perhaps they are too busy to grow old.

HERBERT HOOVER has spent the busiest year of his life during 1954-1955, heading up the Commission on Organization of the Executive Branch of the Government. He worked about 16 hours every day, seven days a week, read every word of each Task Force report, did most of the writing of the reports which were sent to Congress, attended meetings at all hours and never said quit.

Shortly before the commission went out of existence, I lunched with Herbert Hoover in New York. With clarity and succinctness, he gave me a run-down of the work of his commission and what he sought to accomplish and the nature of the conflict of ideas involved in some of his proposals.

IN THESE DAYS of foggy thinking and diplomacy by press agents and legislative confusion, it is exciting to discover a public figure who bases his actions upon a philosophy of life rather than upon some temporary political advantage.

Of course, for Herbert Hoover there is no longer any temporary political advantage; therefore he can afford to view public problems with complete objectivity.

For at least a decade, I have heard him say "This will be the last job I undertake. I shall probably be dead before it is completed." The man who is not afraid of death is not afraid of the consequences of life.

Therein perhaps lies also the advantage of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, 79, who is proving himself the wisest statesman in Europe. It can mean so little to him if he is unpopular. What has he to lose personally, but what has he to gain for his country?

THESE OLDER MEN can well afford to submerge themselves for their country, because they have discovered by long life and great experience that self does not matter so much. What is it that one can give to self, or take for self at such a great age?

What men call popularity is empty laudation that has lost all value. I presume that Toscanini, 88, listening to the roar of the crowd at the end of a concert must wonder why they are so excited that he has done well.

What did they expect of him? Is the applause really significant or is it that at his age the brain is so fresh that he can conduct Beethoven's Ninth without a score before him, but with all of it in his head, every note for each instrument, for chorus and soloists?

That used to be a feat for younger men; yet I have listened to Herbert Hoover recite the details of America's waterpower with a fullness that is hard to find in dozens of reports.

And so, on Herbert Hoover's birthday, I like to greet America's most revered citizen. It was not always so and that does not matter, either. The years pass and history makes its own record.

For Hoover, it is perhaps a glorious day when he can begin to sense what history's verdict will be on his career of more than 40 years of public service, with so little reward of any kind.

BUT AN ORTHODOX, old-fashioned Quaker does not expect a reward and would hardly know what to do with it.

As the word, reward, runs through this column, I cannot but think of that night in 1914 when Herbert Hoover and his wife, Lou Henry, prayed until morning for guidance and decided that it was God's will that they give up the pursuit of wealth to devote the rest of their lives to public service.

Herbert Hoover since that day never kept for himself or his family any compensation that came his way. It was God's will that it be so.

Political Judo

By Victor Riesel

TOKYO

It is tough to report—but many an American will go jobless and many a U.S. industry will lose millions of dollars or even be wiped out by Japanese exports for many a year.

VICTOR RIESEL

The only alternative seems to be abandonment of this teeming country to Russia and Peiping China. But without these nipponese islands we could never really defend our homeland.

Any ban on Japanese imports into the U.S. would be jumped on with glee by scores of Tokyo businessmen eager to trade with Peiping and Moscow. These local industrialists are our friends as long as we buy. They flock to the Hotel Teito, where the U.S. "buyers-san" register in. But that doesn't prevent Japanese businessmen from circulating brutal propaganda against us.

Only a few weeks ago, for example, the Japan Federation of Bar Associations turned in a report on our armed forces in Okinawa.

THIS DOCUMENT read like a Nazi war atrocity story. The bar, which is closely linked to Japanese industrialism, charged our troops with "cases of rape by turns, murder, violence and displays of human skulls. . ." and even with the responsibility for military dogs biting peasants and their children.

There's much more in this report. But the important thing is that the reputable and influential "Japan Industrial Press" printed the document on its front page where it was widely seen and applauded. I've searched for at least one Japanese businessman here who defended us. I found none!

This is symptomatic of the almost universal, but polite, dislike for us. It would easily be turned into active enmity if we cut off their sales of tuna fish, textiles, pottery, toys, raw silk, lumber, cameras and some 50 other major items now flooding the U.S. and dislocating many American communities.

THE RUSSIANS are waiting for just such a thing to develop between us and the Japanese. The other day I was told that Andrei I. Domnitsky, head of the still unrecognized Soviet Mission in Tokyo (Japan and Russia technically are still at war), went up to see Tanzan Ishibashi, minister of International Trade and Industry.

The Russian offered oil, coal, lumber and other products in exchange for Japanese goods. This would hurt us. The Japanese have been buying coal and raw cotton, too, from us. A switch to Russia would hit the south and some of John Lewis' miners back home.

The minister cordially told Domnitsky that Japan would love to trade with Russia. They continued to confer.

There is also a Diet (Congress) Men's League for the Promotion of Japan-Communist China Trade, which has strong business following here. They keep watching for us to make an unstrategic move.

SOME SUCH MOVES are necessary. For example, our government recently cut back spending here for military auto and truck repairs. Result is that the Fuji Auto Industry Co. now plans layoffs affecting 30,000 workers. Add this to the 750,000 jobless and the several million unemployed who went back to work with their families on the farms and rice paddies and there is danger of a sharp depression here.

Other grim layoffs have resulted from our slashing of arms and ammo orders here. We're now buying only $5,811,000 worth compared with last year's $84,695,000, a slash of 91 per cent. This hurts these people.

The White House has not only decided to continue letting them dump textiles, toys and other cheap products into the U.S. but we actually are teaching them how to produce these materials more cheaply and swiftly. This will undercut our home industries even more. Even union labor here goes for as low as 14 cents an hour!

WE HAVE HELPED them set up a productivity headquarters.

We are touring special Japanese teams of industrial experts through the U.S. to learn faster production of steel and automobiles—both of which they buy from us now. When they learn from us how to make more, they will buy less from us.

The Japanese auto productivity team left here some time ago for a trip which will take them through Memphis, Milwaukee, Kenosha, Gary, South Bend, Detroit, Toledo, Cleveland, Allentown, New York and Washington.

SOME OF THESE communities, such as South Bend and Toledo, have unemployment problems of their own which won't be helped by any slashing of machine or auto sales abroad.

But the military feels that the first line of defense is Japan—and that we must keep the Nipponese in chips regardless where they fall.

Meanwhile the Japanese businessmen give us a dose of political judo.

Gettysburg

By Ed Creagh

GETTYSBURG, PA.

One thing this proud but friendly battlefield town means to do: It is doing its best to take in stride its eminent part-time resident, Dwight D. Eisenhower.

You'll hear this determination stated by many of the town's 7,200 people who have found themselves neighbors to the President. Mostly they put it something like this:

"We're glad to have Ike living here—delighted, in fact. We're proud he picked Gettysburg, out of the whole country, as the place to buy a farm. And, if you come right down to it, it looks as if he's going to be good for the tourist business.

"But don't forget that Gettysburg was on the map long before any of this happened. We had a battle here—remember? and, much as we like him, Ike is not the first President to honor us with his presence."

AND OF COURSE he isn't, although others haven't spent as much time here.

Gettysburg—and the country—will not forget the November day in 1863 when the lean, melancholy figure of Abraham Lincoln descended from a train (at the gray-painted station still standing here) and delivered a few words:

"Four score and seven years ago. . . ."

Other presidents have come to Gettysburg—every one since McKinley, in fact.

But Eisenhower is the first chief executive to take up residence here. He lives—all this week in the roomy, air-conditioned house he rebuilt a little south of the town, a stone's throw from where Pickett's charge carried the Confederacy to its high water mark.

What does a town do when it finds a president in its midst?

Gettysburg has done the tactful, dignified thing. It found out what the President wanted, then tried to give it to him.

It made him welcome at the Presbyterian Church, where Lincoln worshipped that memorable day in 1863. The Gettysburg Country Club opened to him, and most good days when he's here see the President happily careening over the golf course in one of the colorfully painted electric go-carts which the club just happened to buy after it found out he liked them. It fixed up a private locker room for him.

GETTYSBURG ENJOYS having Mamie Eisenhower drop in for a round of shopping at the five-and-dime. It understands her husband's visits don't leave much time for such events as Lion's' Club luncheons or corn-and-wiener roasts.

So Gettysburg's attitude is, for the most part, to give the President a smile and a wave and then to forget about him. The town rather likes it, too.

Some folks here have worked up a lather over a report, published recently in a magazine, that the porches of houses overlooking the golf course are in demand as balcony seats when the President is playing.

Reporters and photographers playing behind the President checked on that one last weekend. The verdict: Not a peeker on any porch.

The President's total gallery on the last green consisted of three women and one little girl who wandered down from the swimming pool in bathing suits.

Another example of how Gettysburg takes Eisenhower in stride:

One weekend the President was playing with the club pro, Dick Sleichter. A newcomer approached Melinda Hauser, the pretty little lifeguard at the club pool, and asked which of the golfers was the President.

"Oh" said Melinda casually, without looking up, "He's the fellow that's playing with Dick."

FOP Nine Near Crown in Teen League Chase

Marion's Fraternal Order of Police edged toward the Marion County Teen League crown by whipping Marion's Indians 13-5 Tuesday night at Lincoln Park.

In the other half of the twin bill there, the Marion Elks eked out a 1-0 decision over Pleasant.

Trailing 5-1 after five frames, he FOP nine won by erupting for seven runs in the sixth and five more in the seventh.

The winners scored once in the first on two hits but were held scoreless on one hit in the next four frames by Bob Lister as the Indians came up with two runs in the fourth and three in the fifth.

Dave Gallimore hurled FOP to the victory on a five-hitter. He struck out six and walked one.

Lister and Joe Ambrose, who replaced him in the sixth, were tagged for 12 hits by the FOP batters. They struck out five and gave up six walks.

Gallimore, Barrett, Klingel, Burns and Kurz all banged out two hits for the winners. One of Gallimore's hits was a triple. Ambrose clouted a three-bagger for the Indians.

Larry Corbin, on the strength of a second inning run, downed Pleasant and Charles Leffler in a pitchers duel in the nightcap.

Corbin gave up only two hits while Leffler was tagged for only one — in the second when the Elks scored the only and winning run.

Corbin notched nine strikeouts and walked only one while Leffler fanned 12 and walked two.

The winning run was scored by Shirk, who struck out but reached first on a passed ball. A hit by Scott, an infield out and walk followed.

Pete Owings and Charlie Leffler collected Pleasant's hits.

Cubs Notch 4-3 Verdict Over Reds

CHICAGO (AP)—Johnny Klippstein came out of a shaky first inning to pitch four good innings of ball for the Cincinnati Redlegs yesterday.

Then in one of those mysterious moves of managers, Birdie Tebbetts lifted Klippstein for a pinch-hitter in the sixth with two out and no one on base. The pinchhitter didn't produce. The Cubs in their half of the frame scored what proved to be the winning run in their 4-3 triumph.

Outfielder Jim King greeted reliefer Rudy Minarcin with a single. Third baseman Chuck Harmon booted Ernie Banks' grounder. King scored an unearned run and the deciding tally on Randy Jackson's single.

Klippstein gave up three runs in the first frame on three singles, two of them the infield variety, and a pair of walks. The former Cub righthander allowed his ex-teammates only one hit in the next four innings and retired in order 12 men. He was charged with the loss, his seventh in 10 decisions.

Hershell Freeman and Joe Black followed Minarcin to the mound and pitched hitless ball for a round apiece.

The Reds got four hits, three of them in the seventh, off Jim Davis and Bill Tremel.

Harmon opened the three-run seventh with a single. Stan Palys walked and Ted Kluszewski scored both with a double to right center. Klu moved to third as Wally Post grounded out and rode home on Smoky Burgess' single. Tremel replaced Davis and got Milt Smith to hit into a doubleplay. Gus Bell, who walked before Burgess singled, died on third.

In the National, Brooklyn stayed 14 games out front with a 3-2 decision over New York in 10 innings; Milwaukee smacked St. Louis 6-2; Philadelphia clung to fourth with a 9-1 pasting of Pittsburgh; and Chicago beat Cincinnati 4-3.

The Dodgers spotted the Giants two runs in the first inning on Willie Mays' 36th homer, then nicked Ruben Gomez in the sixth and seventh to tie it. Reliefer Marv Grissom loaded the bases, then walked home the clincher in the 10th.

Spahn Nails 10th

Warren Spahn, who was 19-10 this time last year, snared his 10th victory against 12 defeats by dumping the Cards to their 10th defeat in 11 games. Stan Musial homered with a man on for his 999th extra-base knock.

Eyes Entertainment Field

Prober Believes Inquiry Will Bare Many Ex-Reds

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman Walter (D-Pa) said today he expects the House Un-American Activities Committee to find "a lot of people in the entertainment business who've been Communists" and who have used their "large incomes" to further Red causes.

Walter, in an interview, listed 27 actors, writers and other Broadway figures a subcommittee plans to question at weeklong hearings beginning Monday in New York City.

Among Those Listed

Among those he named were Stanley Prager, actor-director appearing in the Broadway musical "Pajama Game"; Sam Jaffe, film and stage actor; Jerome Chodorov, writer of the stage and screen versions of "My Sister Eileen"; Lou Polan, a feature player in the Broadway comedy "Bus Stop"; Zero Mostel, television and stage comedian; Ivan Black, advertising and publicity man; Joshua Shelley, a musical comedian in "Phoenix '55" now playing here.

Walter said some of the questioning will be about alleged Communist activities as late as this year. Some of those subpoenaed, he added without mentioning names, were identified as Communist party members "as far back as 1951."

The House committee, which for years has directed its entertainment-world investigations primarily at Hollywood, has said many of the alleged Reds have moved to Broadway.

Walter said the House group "is concerned with only one problem — the extent to which the Communist party is active in the entertainment media."

Others Called

Others summoned to the hearings, as their names appear on the committee's witness list, include:

Sarah Cunningham (Mrs. John Randolph), actress; Irma Jurist, composer; George Keane, actor; John Randolph, actor; Lee Hays, folk singer; George Tyne, actor; Elliott Sullivan, actor; Madeline Lee (Mrs. Jack Guilford), actress; Albert Ottenheimer, actor; Theodore Saidenberg, musician; Harold Salemson, writer; Anders Wooley, writer; Allen Chase, writer; Jack Guilford, actor; Tony Kraber; Peter Lawrence, actor-producer- director; Allan Manson, actor; Peter Seeger, folk singer; Martin Wolfson, actor; David Kantel, technician and producer.

struments were the two blood-stained hammers and two butcher knives found lying near the bodies.

Next, Miller cleaned up and bought new clothes to replace the bloody garments he was wearing. After visiting a few places in Columbus, Miller said he took his step-father's car and headed east, winding up in the state of Delaware.

He picked up two hitchhikers at Wilmington, Del., and two more at Hagerstown, Md., on his return trip to Columbus. What made him return is still uncertain. But the hitchhikers, according to police, said Miller told them he was seeking to get $60 from his "father" to continue his journey westward.

The hitchhikers were identified as William Stoddard, 16, and Alex J. Gregory, 16, both from Denver, and Samuel J. Mussolino, 17, and Ira W. Cook, 18, both of Falling Waters, W. Va. They were with Miller when the state patrol spotted the missing Thomas car traveling through Cambridge.

Miller was picked up in a Cambridge service station and brought back to Columbus with the other four boys for questioning.

Hurricane

The entire East Coast from Savannah, Ga., to Provincetown, Mass., was under hurricane alert. Rough seas were reported all along the area.

Air Force, Marine and Navy planes all along the Eastern Seaboard were put in hangars or flown inland to safety.

Navy ships put to sea to ride out the storm rather than be battered against docks. Small crafts moved by the thousands into streams and creeks.

The American Red Cross hurried 41 hurricane disaster experts to strategic points along the coast and prepared to open shelters in North Carolina.

Airplanes Will Sit Out Storm at Port Columbus

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Air Force, Navy and Coast Guard airplanes pulled into Columbus yesterday to escape their hurricane-threatened east coast bases. About 150 planes were expected to arrive at Port Columbus Naval Air Station and more than 100 Air Force planes had landed at nearby Lockbourne AFB yesterday, a spokesman said, to avoid possible contact with Hurricane Connie.

Two Other Mishaps

Police reported two other accidents Tuesday in which no persons were injured.

One happened at the corner of Delaware Ave. and Walnut St. at 7:30 p.m. Cars driven by Gerald Wayne McKnight, 39, of 763 Silver St. and Mrs. Elizabeth L. Seiter of 630 S. Prospect St. collided in the intersection. McKnight, who was southbound on Delaware Ave., swerved to avoid Mrs. Seiter's car, but the two vehicles collided and McKnight's car was knocked over the curb, breaking off a street marker.

The other accident caused total damage estimated at less than $100, police reported.

Ex-POW Seen as Camp Bully Responsible for Death of Three

NEW YORK (AP) — Testimony of former POWs has pictured an American sergeant as a prison camp bully who caused three deaths during a bitter North Korean winter.

The court-martial of Sgt. James C. Gallagher Tuesday turned to the deaths of two fellow prisoners. Hut-mates of Gallagher said he tossed the sick and enfeebled men out of the hut and left them to die in 40-degree-below-zero weather.

Third Prisoner Died

The case of a third prisoner who died after allegedly being beaten by Gallagher was told in Monday's testimony.

Gallagher, 23, is the only American ever tried on charges of having directly caused the death of GI prisoners in North Korea. He is accused of unpremeditated murder, which is classed as second degree, and of collaborating with his Red captors.

Witnesses against Gallagher, whose home is in Brooklyn, said he curried favor with the Reds and got warm clothing and extra food while they shivered in regular Army fatigue uniforms and were ill from malnutrition. They said they were too sick to oppose Gallagher when he allegedly threw John W. Jones of Detroit and Donald T. Baxter of Waukon, Iowa, into the cold.

Walter J. Polinsky, a 23-year-old former POW from Bloomsburg, Pa., said he knew the men were alive at the time because he saw them move.

"Did you hear any of the prisoners say anything?" he was asked. Bolinsky answered:

"I heard one ask to come back inside. Then Gallagher stuck his head out and said he wouldn't let him in until he went on a wood detail."

Found Dead in Morning

The next morning, Bolinsky testified, the men were stiff and dead in "approximately the same place they were the night before."

Another ex-serviceman, Miguel Galvan, 26, of Harlinger, Tex., said he heard Gallagher berate the sick men and accuse them of being too lazy to go outside to a toilet.

Galvan said he objected when Gallagher allegedly threw the men out.

Earlier in the day three other witnesses gave similar accounts of the way Gallagher treated Jones and Baxter. In the courtroom to hear the story was Jones' mother, Mrs. Loretta Jones.

Gallagher's trial began Aug. 3. The prosecution expects to wind up its case in the sixth day of testimony today. Thus far the defense has not indicated how many witnesses it plans to call or whether Gallagher will take the stand in his own defense.

Telegram Sent Mrs. Schmidt By Air Force

WASHINGTON, (AP) — The Air Force says it sent a telegram and a letter to Mrs. Una Schmidt in June 1954 to notify her that her airman husband Daniel C. Schmidt was reported a prisoner in Red China.

Mrs. Schmidt has told reporters that not until November 1954 was she notified Schmidt was a prisoner of war. That was two months after she had married Alford Fine, 21, she said, in the belief Schmidt was dead.

Schmidt, 22, is one of 11 American airmen recently released by the Communists. They are scheduled to arrive Friday at Travis Air Force base near San Francisco.

Mrs. Schmidt's lawyer said she has taken her son Danny, 2½, whom Schmidt has never seen, and is living apart from Fine, a logging worker. The 20-year-old woman is in seclusion with her son in a house trailer near Nevada City, Calif., and was not available for comment on the Air Force statement.

An Air Force spokesman said Tuesday night the Air Force had a receipt from Western Union for delivery of its telegram. The spokesman said he did not know who signed the receipt.

Will Stevenson Run? Ex-Wife Doesn't Know

CHICAGO (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson's divorced wife said today she definitely does not know whether he will be a Democratic candidate for president again next year.

But Mrs. Ellen Borden Stevenson added in an interview:

"He has always been a Hamlet who has never been able to make up his mind about anything."

Stevenson, unsuccessful Democratic nominee in 1952, has not announced his plans.

Gunmen Hold Up Cafe

CLEVELAND (AP)—Two gunmen wearing silk stocking masks held up a cafe early today and escaped with $1,886 after slugging one of five customers.

Edward Stanik, 30, was hit in the face by one of the robbers after the pair entered and announced a holdup. The bandits then herded Stanik, Mrs. Julia Juhasz, owner of the tavern, a bartender and the other customers into a basement washroom and rifled the cash register.

to do and we'll help them do it," the spokesman said. "Nobody is being scheduled for anything."

The C54s, equipped with berths, are due at Hickam Field, Hawaii, at 2:30 p.m. (7:30 p.m., EST). They will leave at 5:30 p.m. Thursday and are due at Travis, northeast of San Francisco, at 8 a.m. Friday (10 a.m., EST).

In an exclusive interview today, Schmidt told with deep emotion something of how it feels to be free again.

"They were playing Retreat here last evening . . .

"You will never know how wonderful a feeling it was to be wearing a uniform and to be able to salute the flag . . . That was the best feeling I have had in years."

GOP Governor Of Utah Boosts Ohio's Lausche

CHICAGO (AP)—Frank J. Lausche, Ohio's five-term Democratic governor, got an unsolicited boost yesterday for the presidential nomination. And it came, from a Republican—Gov. J. Bracken Lee of Utah.

Lee said in an interview at the 47th Governors' Conference here that whether he would support President Eisenhower for a second term depended "pretty much who is on the other ticket."

If Democrats pick Lausche for their candidate, said Lee, "I certainly could support him." But he added he didn't think Lausche had "much chance."

Lausche in the past has declined to say whether he will seek the presidential nomination.

But he told reporters:

"Regardless of what the prospects are for election, the Democratic party owes a responsibility to choose a candidate of strength, stability, integrity and demonstrated devotion to public service and to the country.

"I am not that man," said Lausche.

He added, however, that if an individual with the caliber he mentioned is chosen, "He certainly will not deny the call."

Lausche was asked if such a person should actively seek the post. "I think," he answered, "that if you avidly and fanatically seek a post, by that very action you reveal a weakness in character."

Governors

dined with Stevenson at the latter's Libertyville, Ill., home Tuesday night. There was no official indication of the results, but Stevenson's associates insisted that Harriman came away with no doubt that the 1952 nominee is actively seeking the nomination again.

Harriman and Stevenson agreed after the dinner they would keep in contact "constantly" about "things that affect the nation." They gave no other indication of an agreement.

Although several of his colleagues said Stevenson should announce his plans within the next two weeks, Gov. Frank Lausche of Ohio said that anybody who "avidly and fanatically" seeks such a post reveals "a weakness of character."

Gov. J. Bracken Lee, Utah Republican, broke the otherwise solid ranks of GOP state executives rooting for Eisenhower to run again. Lee said he would bolt the ticket for the "right kind of Democrat." He named Lausche as that kind but said Stevenson wouldn't do.

Gov. Edmund A. Muskie, Maine Democrat, said he thinks after a talk with Stevenson that the latter is "feeling out the political climate . . . for what is best for the country and the Democratic party, regardless of who the candidate might be."

The United States favors a patient, gradual reduction of NNSC activities until the body virtually ceases to exist.

Great Aunt Feeds Boy Lye Solution by Mistake

CLEVELAND (AP)—A 6-months-old boy was in Mt. Sinai Hospital for observation today after being fed a lye solution by mistake by his 74-year-old great aunt.

Police said Richard Falkoski, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Falkoski, was being tended by Mrs. Stell Fnulzski while his parents were painting elsewhere in the house.

Mrs. Fnulzski, who does not read English well, was searching for baby food in the kitchen cabinet when she found a jelly-like stove cleanser and, thinking it was pablum, fed some of it to Richard, officers said.

AFL Council Won't Approve Union Merger

Wants To Be Sure First That Ex-CIO Outfit Free of Reds

CHICAGO (AP) —The executive council of the American Federation of Labor has refused to approve the merger of a member union with the Fur and Leather Workers Union.

Now independent, the 60,000-member Fur and Leather Workers Union was ousted from the Congress of Industrial Organizations on charges of Communist domination.

Meat Cutters Take Over

The 282,000-member AFL Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen Tuesday announced that it has taken control of the fur workers union and has forced out 11 officials the AFL considered "objectionable."

After the executive council meeting, however, George Meany, AFL president, said the council still was not convinced the fur workers workers union has been housecleaned enough for the AFL to approve the merger.

Meany said the council instructed Patrick Gorman, secretary-treasurer of the meat cutters, to report in late October at the next council meeting on further progress toward making the union acceptable.

Meany said he wants the meat cutters-fur workers merger issue settled before the AFL and CIO merge in December.

"We don't want the AFL to be an umbrella or haven for the Communists to take refuge temporarily until they can again find an opportunity to do their subversive work," he said.

Voted in February.

The meat cutters and fur workers voted February to merge.

Discussing the merger efforts, Gorman said all persons listed by Meany as objectionable to the AFL by Meany had signed non-Communist affidavits. He didn't say why the AFL had listed them as objectionable.

He said resignations were handed in by Joseph Winogradski, manager of the joint council in New York, and business representative George Kleinman, Max Kotinsky, Sam Resnick, Samuel Freedman, Max Bronsik, Ida Thall and Morris Brecker.

Jack Snyder and Murray Brown, assistant managers of the council, and business representative Julius Fleiss refused to resign and were ousted, Gorman said.

Youth, 13, Strangled By Harmonica Holder

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP) — Larry George Wealand, 13, was strangled in his bedroom Tuesday by a harmonica holder he had rigged up himself. He was found slumped over the edge of his bed with one end of a belt tied to a metal rod at the head of the bed and the other end looped around his neck.

The support was designed to hold a harmonica to his mouth and free both hands to play a guitar. A deputy coroner said the mattress apparently slipped off the edge of the bed and carried the youth with it, causing the belt to tighten around his neck.

Highway Aid Slated

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ohio will be given $35,111,550 in federal highway aid for the fiscal year beginning next July 1, the government has announced. The total is broken down like this. $11,004,625 for primary roads; $6,692,104 for secondary roads; $10,036,440 for urban roads; and $7,378,381 for interstate superhighways. With certain exceptions, most states receiving this aid must match federal money 50-50.

Helicopter Flight Service Planned In Cincinnati Area

CINCINNATI (AP) — Helicopters may be hopping all over southwestern Ohio by the end of September in the area's first regular helicopter service.

Ohio Valley Airways said it will operate nonscheduled passenger flights and provide personalized passenger and freight service for several area industrial firms. It will serve Cincinnati, Wilmington, Blanchester, Dayton, Middletown, Hamilton and Springfield.

Thomas H. Noonan, president of Ohio Valley Airways, said today the service may be extended in time to Lexington, Ky., and Chillicothe and Portsmouth, Ohio.

Three Bell 47 helicopters are on order and flights will start when the first craft is delivered.

Rates are now being worked out, Noonan said. He and other Cincinnati businessmen have been planning the helicopter service for two years.

N.Y. Stock Quotations

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market made hesitant progress today and then subsided in the early afternoon into a quietly mixed position.

Two points either way amply covered price changes. Trading was at a pace less than two million shares. Tuesday's total was 2,240,000 shares.

Today's market was featured by strength in the aircrafts and in coppers while the motors, steels, and railroads were lower.

Aircrafts, and particularly those interested in atomic work have been buying favorites recently. Coppers, riding on the possibility of price increases plus good earnings reports, have been advancing.

Motors, on the other hand, have had the handicap of fears that consumer credit may be tightened plus a warning from General Motors Acceptance Corp to dealers to take it easy on giving credit to new car buyers.

U. S. government bonds were steady.

Atomic Survival Possible

Specially Designed Home Could Withstand A-Blast

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Reporter

NEW YORK (AP)—Four homes tell part of the story of survival against H-bombs.

They stood on Yucca Flat in Nevada less than a mile from the center of an atomic blast nearly twice as powerful as the bomb that killed 70,000 Japanese in Hiroshima.

Second of a Series

A two-story brick house was demolished. But its basement and its shelters came through intact.

Next door, a one-story frame rambler was smashed into rubble. It had no basement haven.

But part of this rambler house did stand up—the bathroom. Inside were two tail-wagging, barking dogs, showing no immediate signs of injury.

This bathroom was specially made. It had thick concrete walls, a blast door and window that recessed into the wall when not needed. The blast door and window had been closed.

The A-blast last May gave a test of this built-in shelter, which cost $500 when the rambler was constructed.

A safe haven for humans? Very probably, at this distance from that powerful an A-bomb. Or safe if it were in a house at a five-mile distance from an H-bomb 1,000 times more powerful than the Hiroshima A-bomb.

Atomic weapons lash out not only with the blast, but with heat and with radiation.

The concrete walls of the bathroom shelter soaked up or stopped much of the X-rays. Studies will show whether humans would have been made sick by such X-rays even if they had survived the blast and the heat. The concrete stopped the heat waves.

Next door to the rambler houses were two other one-story houses, one of precast lightweight concrete, the other of reinforced lightweight cinder block.

They were damaged, structurally, a bit, but easily repairable.

These two houses pointed up one very important survival lesson—the necessity of avoiding flying glass or other objects. The windows in these concrete houses were smashed, spreading a lethal gravel of glass that ripped the bodies and clothes of mannequins, slashed the curtains, pitted the walls. Doors blew in, and bits of venetian blinds became dangerous bullets.

But there were places, in corners or in hallways, or behind furniture, where this lethal spray of broken glass and flying objects would not have reached.

Shoemaker Takes Dad's Advice, Stops at $32,000 on Quiz Show

NEW YORK (AP)—Shoemaker Gino Prato, still accustomed to following his father's advice at the age of 55, has taken his $32,000 and given up on The $64,000 Question.

A cable from Papa Prato in Italy advised: "Stop where you are. That's enough this way. Regards, Daddy."

And that's what the Bronx cobbler, with the pleasing ways and amazing operatic lore, did Tuesday night.

Takes the $32,000

Before a jammed studio and a vast television audience, Prato took a check for the $32,000 he had won so far. He translated the cable from Genoa, and said:

"Because I take my Daddy's advice all my life, I accept."

Prato said he received the cable from his 82-year-old father this week, in the midst of a dilemma over a deluge of "do" and "don't" advice from well-wishers.

No one yet has tried for the grand prize on the CBS-TV give-away show.

If Prato had taken a chance and lost, he would have received an expensive automobile as a consolation prize.

Under the policy of the show, the opera question Prato would have faced Tuesday night will remain a secret.

Prato in his studio remarks said a local radio station, WOV, recorded his voice and sent it to Italy for his father to hear in the small town of Statale, near Genoa, and then brought back a recording of the father's voice for the cobbler to hear—for the first time in 33 years.

"I was crying all the time," the shoemaker said.

Will Leave for Italy

Prato, his wife Caroline and their daughter Lorraine, 23, will leave for Italy to visit his father soon after the daughter is married to Eugene Jonnides, 26, Aug. 27. They would have had the trip even if Prato had tried for the grand prize and lost. A travel agency offered him round-trip tickets.

Telling the TV audience about the excitement of the past week while trying to make up his mind, Prato said his biggest thrill was a visit from conductor Arturo Toscanini's daughter Mrs. Vladimir Horowitz, wife of the pianist.

When Mrs. Horowitz congratulated Prato on his knowledge of the opera, the singers, composers and conductors, he told her:

"Tell your daddy, as one Italian fellow to another, I can tell his life from the day he was born to the time he put down his baton."

A week ago Prato made the $32,000 hurdle by answering a four-part question which included a Toscanini angle.

Firestone, Union Confer

CLEVELAND (AP) — The CIO United Rubber Workers union started negotiating here yesterday with the Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. on the union's demand for a "substantial wage increase" under a contract reopening clause. The union has set Aug. 28 as a deadline for a settlement which would affect 22,000 workers in seven Firestone plants throughout the nation. Union and company representatives agreed not to discuss their progress publicly until the talks end.

Brazil has increased the number of her airports from 140 to 270 in the last five years, says the National Geographic Society.

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Labor Secretary James P. Mitchell told an AFL convention yesterday that the Eisenhower Administration is responsible for a "steady evolution toward better administration of better laws" dealing with labor. An example of this, he told the Ohio Federation of Labor, is the fact that the labor department last year initiated more actions enforcing federal labor standards laws than in all previous years put together.

Auto Makers, Finance Firms Unworried About Big Car Debt

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Those hordes of shiny, brilliantly hued cars flashing by you on the highway—are they running on gasoline or on debt?

The unusually large stocks of cars still in the hands of the dealers as the 1955 model year nears the close—will they be sold at a profit, or at big discounts and on increasingly (perhaps dangerously) liberal payment terms?

It's one of the hottest debates today.

Debt at New High

Never before have the auto makers turned out so many cars. Never before have Americans bought — or at least signed up to pay for — so many new cars. Never before has the total of automobile installment credit outstanding been so huge.

Before World War II Americans owed 1 ½ billion dollars on their cars. This summer they owe 12 ½ billion.

The auto makers and the finance companies say there's nothing to worry about. National income has gone up steadily. The debt load isn't too heavy, they say, for prosperous Americans to carry.

And they point out that much of the present prosperity is due to credit buying. This boosts retail sales, makes possible the high industrial production schedules which spark the rising total of personal income.

The auto makers and the finance companies also point to the low rate of repossessions, to the American habit of meeting installment payments even when times tighten up a little.

"Our auto loan delinquents are at an all-time low", says F. R. Wills, president of General Acceptance Corp.

Universal C. I. T. Corp. reports that since the war Americans have financed 84 billion dollars to buy cars and have so far repaid 72 billion. In the first six months of this year 8 ½ billion dollars worth of credit was extended to car buyers and repayments came to 6 ½ billion. The finance company thinks 10 million car buyers will complete payments this year.

But others aren't quite as easy in their minds about the big rush this year to borrow to drive a flashy car.

Reserve Board Nervous

The Federal Reserve Board is nervous about the total of debt in all fields, and about the rapid rate at which it has been rising. Consumer debt has been growing at a great pace. Corporate debt has been going up, and bank loans to business have grown at a season when they usually drop. The federal debt creeps higher, and state and local indebtedness swells at a faster rate. The home building boom has been fed by easy mortgage terms—and the administration is now putting a mild brake on that.

The spotlight turns on the auto dealers just now because of increasing signs that the drive to get rid of the 1955 models before the new ones appear a couple of months from now may find some dealers relaxing credit terms even more than at present.

Flat-Top Haircuts Will Cost an Extra 25 Cents

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP)—Beginning Tuesday, barbers say, youngsters and some adults will pay 25 cents more for flat-top and flat-top boogie haircuts here. Barbers Local Union 672 approved the increase Tuesday night. There will be no change in the price of regular haircuts, now $1.25.

Singers To Appear

Arrangements have been completed for appearance in Emmanuel Baptist Church here Thursday night of the Gospel Messengers group from Bryan University at Dayton, Tenn. Included are singers, Mark Davis of Red Jacket, W. Va., Kenneth Campbell of Ajax, Ontario, Canada, Howard Park of Mobile, Ala., and Wilbur Pickering of Bolivia, South America; pianist, Lyle Hillegas of Neenah, Wis.; and trumpet player, Don Weltmer of Altoona, Pa. Time of the program will be 7:45.

The Emmanuel Church Youth Fellowship will entertain the guests at the church center on N. Main St. for supper preceding the service. Larry Coy is the youth group president. Miss Nancy Jane Hershey, daughter of the Emmanuel Church pastor, Rev. C. E. Hershey, will enter Bryan University in the fall.

Mansfield Tire Lists Record Sales, Earnings

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — The Mansfield Tire and Rubber Co. today reported sales totaling $38,468,754 and earnings of $993,668 for the first six months of 1955.

James H. Hoffman, president, said the sales figure is a record mid-year high, and represents an increase of 53.97 per cent over the $24,984,955 at the close of the first six months last year. He said the $993,668 in income, after provisions for federal taxes, contrasted to the $287,762 in earnings at mid year in 1954.

Judge Orders Banishment of Family's Collie

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — Seven-year-old Stanley Pulaski and his 5-year-old sister Janice had 24 hours left today to find a new home for their 4-year-old collie Ike.

The dog was ordered banished from the Pulaski home Tuesday by Municipal Judge Robert B. Burns.

Last June, Mrs. Harry F. Wells, a neighbor, said Ike bit her Chihuahua. She took the case to court.

Judge Burns ordered the dog kept on the Pulaski property. He wasn't to leave his kennel unattended.

Mrs. Wells testified in court Tuesday she had seen Ike unattended on a romp around the neighborhood. Another neighbor corroborated her testimony.

Defense attorney Donald G. Dewey brought 12 neighborhood children into court to testify in behalf of Ike.

He was a good dog, they said He was loyal. He was noble He never hurt anybody . . . a model dog and a friend. But to no avail

With his ruling punctuated by the crying and sobbing of the children, Judge Burns gave Mrs. Pulaski 48 hours to find a new home for Ike — five miles or more from the Pulaski residence.

Tokyo has a population of eight million, city officials say.

Swimming Suit Turned Transparent, She Claims

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP)—Claudia A. Hamilton says she went swimming in a new bathing suit and suffered mortification and humiliation, shock, permanent injury to her nerves and "pyschic injury to her personality."

The suit, from the waist down, became transparent, she claims in her suit for $20,000 against the Glamor Shops, Inc., of New York.

Crowds spotted her rising from the sea in a semi-nude state, she claims, and a friend rushed to knock her back into the water to cover her form from gaping males.

She said she was forced to walk the gauntlet up the strand encased in a towel "for protection from the leers of the public. . ."

Explorer Scout Group Visits at Ohio Air Base

A highlight on the calendar of Explorer Post 26, Boy Scouts, was a weekend visit to the Clinton County Air Force Base at Wilmington as guests of Tecumseh Council of Springfield. The post is sponsored by the Pleasant Community Club.

Checking in Friday the afternoon was spent getting settled in barracks and in the evening there was a lecture on orientation.

The big day started Saturday with reveille at 6:30 a.m. and the forenoon was spent touring the base facilities and witnessing a fire fighting demonstration. Later in the day the visitors were taken for a ride in one of the C-46 transport planes stationed at the base. A dance in one of the hangars, with dates from local cities, was a social feature of the weekend.

On Sunday the scouts attended the church of their choice and following a turkey dinner returned home.

Making the trip were Gary Parish, Jeff Peacock, Tom Mogan, Steve McGuire, Jack Wood, Richard Schwaderer, James Stewart and Edward Snyder. George Wood and Robert Carter, post advisers, accompanied the boys and provided transportation.

Tests show that night temperatures next to bluegrass sod can be as much as 6 degrees lower than at shoulder height.

Galion's 1956 Budget Accepted, Shows Expected $11,000 Deficit

GALION — The 1956 budget was accepted by city council Tuesday night at the regular meeting. The budget had its public reading a week ago. A deficit of $11,890.10 is anticipated for 1956, the figures show.

Receipts are estimated at $207,272.31 as against the six months' actual and the six month's estimated receipts this year of $209,577.17. Expenditures next year were placed at $220,191.06, as against a six months' actual and estimated figure this year of $218,833.47.

About the only increase in expenditures for 1956 is the $5,000 wage increase to city employes which was granted July 29 by council.

Reports on Levy

Mayor Francis Schalip informed councilmen that the operating levy asking for two mills for a period of five years has been taken to the Crawford County Board of Elections for approval for the next general election. He asked for a meeting of council as a committee to agree on figures. The levy, if passed by voters, 60 per cent or more of the voters are required for passage, would provide about $50,000 annually for the next five years.

First reading was given an ordinance authorizing the service director to advertise for bids and enter into contract with the lowest and best bidder for painting and cleaning of the water tower. The amount appropriated from the water fund for this work is $2,400.

Hear Request

Council received a communication from Carl Albright and Raymond McDonald asking that the city make a larger opening under S. State Rd. to take care of storm water near their subdivision. Albright also spoke from the floor, asking the city engineer to approve plans for a storm sewer on Henry St., which also bounds the sub-division.

Council accepted the communication from the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. stating that there would be no change in the price of gas for Galion consumers up to November, 1955. The letter was read at the last special meeting of council on Aug. 2.

Rev. Kenneth A. Hans of St. Joseph's parish opened the meeting with prayer. Two councilmen, J. W. Caris and J. Gerald Bonnar, not present, were excused.

Man Whose Nose Is on Indian Nickel Is Fined

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP) — Chief John Bigtree, whose nose appears on the Indian-head nickel, pleaded guilty in police court Tuesday to a charge of driving while intoxicated. He was fined $100 and his driver's license was revoked.

The 79-year-old Seneca chief was arrested last June 3 after his car struck a fire hydrant.

The head on the nickel is a composite created by sculptor James Fraser from three representative Indian models. The nose is Bigtree's.

Airport Aid Granted

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Akron Municipal Airport will receive $97,265, and the Portsmouth, Ohio, County Airport will get $47,500 among the five Ohio cities granted federal airport aid, commerce secretary Weeks announced. Cities receiving airport aid must match the grants dollar-for-dollar.

Author Relates Crop Forecast Secrecy Plans

Strict Rules Enforced To Keep Speculators From Obtaining Data

So important and so nearly accurate are the monthly forecasts of the Crop Reporting Board in Washington, that these predictions must reach all in the nation at the same time. If a forecast should leak prematurely, speculators could turn the knowledge into fortunes, as farm prices are instantly affected by the Board's crop estimates.

The forecasts are calculated from letters mailed in by individual crop reporters all over the United States. The letters are kept in a locked mailbox in Washington until the day the crop estimates are released.

Measures taken by the Board to guard against leaks are described by Ira Wolfert, in the August Reader's Digest.

On the day of a crop-report release, the author met at dawn with the Board members, headed by permanent chairman Sterling Newell. They proceeded with armed guards to the mailbox, took out the envelopes containing the reports and carried them to a room in the Agriculture Department's South Building. Once the party was inside, the doors were locked.

"Thereafter, until 3 p.m., when the report is issued, it would take an act of Congress to get anyone out of the room," Wolfert states. A doctor, if needed, can get in, but he can't get out until unlocking time. All telephones are disconnected. Every window has a sealed venetian blind. In 50 years of these security measures, no attempt to breach them has been made.

After hours of studying the many reports, the Board has its estimate prepared by about 2:45, just before release time. The Secretary of Agriculture then enters and signs the estimate. The doors are opened, the party emerges, copies of the estimate are placed face down, near waiting newsmen. At exactly 3 o'clock the Secretary calls "Go!" The newsmen snatch up the reports and the forecasts are sped to the world.

Parrott Reports Bumper Crop Picture

Excellent Harvests Expected for All Commodities

Marion County farmers who have already reaped bumper crops of wheat and oats can look forward to good crops of corn and soybeans, according to a mid-summer report released today by Ellwood Parrott, county extension agent.

Parrott reported that there were about 22,000 acres of wheat harvested this year, 3,000 over the 19,000 acre allotment for the county. He said incomplete figures indicated the average yield of the grain this summer was nearly 40 bushels to the acre here, well over the 10-year average of 24.5 bushels.

PARROTT ALSO added that the quality of the wheat was exceptionally good with most testing about 60 pounds to the bushel and being received at market under 14 per cent moisture content.

The oats picture was just as bright, Parrott said. There were more oats harvested than in former years as farmers planted that grain on fields where acreage allotments prohibited the sowing of wheat.

In the county the average yield of oats for the last 10 years has been 37 bushels to the acre. This year, he pointed out, the average will probably be about 65 bushels to the acre. Oats also showed an excellent quality with much of it testing at 35 pounds to the bushel.

THE HAY CROP has also come in for a boost this year with averages expected to reach two tons per acre. The average for the last 10 years in the county has been 1.4 tons. Parrott reported the second cutting of hay was extremely heavy in most sections of the county because of the timely rains and favorable growing conditions present at the time.

For the rest of the summer, Parrott sees a good future. He said early estimates show the corn yield this year may double the average of 49 bushels to the acre. That would result in an average yield of 98 bushels per acre on Marion County farms.

Corn under price supports will be supported at about 87½ per cent of parity or $1.63 per bushel. The definite price will not be established until October 1.

There is a cloud on the horizon for many corn growers here, though, Parrott warned. He pointed out that estimates indicated farmers here had exceeded their corn acreage allotments by nearly 35,000 bushels. While the allotments call for 45,000 acres to be planted in the county, Parrott said reports he had received showed the figure would be closer to 80,000 acres.

Parrott cited the favorable corn price at harvest time last year and the extremely close margin of operation in cases of other farm commodities for the jump over the allotments. He pointed out that last year the drought in the western states had brought about a higher price than normal at harvest time and many farmers expected the same condition to exist again this year.

SOYBEANS SHOULD produce a bumper crop too, Parrott said. He pointed out that preliminary estimates placed the average yield here at 25 bushels to the acre, compared with the 10-year average of 19 bushels. There are about 25,000 acres planted in soybeans in the county.

Favorable growing weather coupled with timely rains were cited as the most important factors contributing to the excellent crops this year. Added to the first two was the more liberal use of fertilizer, the use of more certified and hybrid seed, greater use of lime and better crop rotations including the use of legumes in rotation plans.

Parrott points out that nearly one-third of the farms in the county now have soil conservation plans which include crop rotation recommendations.

The heat wave which was just ended this last weekend did not materially damage crops in most of the county, according to the extension agent. He said rains fell at times when they were most needed and prevented much damage from heat.

There are some sections of the county, though, which do need rain badly, he added.

It was livestock which suffered most during the hot spell, he said. Hogs and fat cattle seemed to suffer the most during the extremely warm days and several cases of livestock deaths were reported.

One farmer reported losing 38 head of fat hogs in one day from heat prostration while one company reported receiving almost 15 calls a day from around the county to have dead animals removed.

Parrott said many losses could be avoided if plenty of shade and fresh water is made available for the animals and if they are not disturbed during the hot weather.

As a whole, Parrott concludes, the picture in the county is good for this year as far as the farmers are concerned.

TALL CORN IS the rule rather than the exception in Marion County this year. County Agent Ellwood Parrott said early forecasts call for bumper yields. Edson I. Smith of near Marion admires the stalks which tower well above his head. His dog takes the entire business quite calmly. Smith's corn is 12 to 14 feet tall. He applied liberal amounts of fertilizer on the field before planting and used horses in plowing and cultivating work on the field.

Ohio Farm Econogram

Report on Prices and Economic Trends Prepared by Agricultural Extension Service

Some tightening of credit. Federal Reserve Banks increased discount rates (rate at which they extend credit to commerical banks) in several districts to two per cent; Cleveland district raised to 2¼ per cent. Marign requirements on stocks recently increased from 60 to 70 per cent. Interest rates slightly higher. Some mortgage terms tightening a little.

Cost of living edged up two-tenths per cent in June to 114.4 per cent of the 1947-49 base. Seasonal increase in food prices was responsible for most of gain. Living costs have been fairly stable for past year and a half.

—:—

Some parity comparisons in July. (figure in parentheses is last year): Wheat, 78 (80); corn, 77 (82); Soybeans, 77 (124); potatoes, 61 (101); apples, 98 (106); hogs, 79 (99); beef cattle, 76 (74); chickens, 85 (76); eggs, 76 (75); milk, 87 (84); wool, 75 (94).

—:—

Food situation Record supplies available for rest of year if weather continues favorable. Consumers' outlay for food still rising. With record incomes consumers are buying more of higher cost items as well as more marketing services with their food. Retail food prices may decline slightly in next few months with seasonal increases in supplies of meats, fruits and vegetables.

—:—

National School Lunch Appropriations for the year's program totaled $83.2 million. The 48 states have been allotted $67 million on basis of number of children and need for assistance relative to per capita income. Ohio was allotted $2.5 million. For each dollar of federal funds the state must match with $3 state funds if the per capita income in the state equals or exceeds the national average.

—:—

Exports bolstered by improvement in economic conditions abroad and the stronger international financial position of our customers. Farm exports up seven per cent in year ended June 30, over the year 1953-54 and 11 per cent above two years ago. Grains as a whole were about the same as the previous year although wheat increased 25 per cent. Largest gains were in vegetable fats and oils and livestock products. Cotton, tobacco, fruits and vegetables also showed an increase.

Expert Offers Tip on Ridding House of Bees

COLUMBUS — Stray swarms of honeybees are often unwelcome summertime house guests, says Charles Reese, Ohio State University extension apairist. However, these unwelcome guests are easy to destroy.

Thirty to 50 per cent DDT dust and a hand type plunger dust gun will remove the bees. Fill the gun with about one-half pound of DDT dust, insert the nozzle in the bees' entrance and pump vigorously, Reese advises. Occasionally it may be necessary to enlarge the entrance or bore a hole near the swarm. All openings should be sealed soon after the DDT dust is applied.

Cyanogas dust may be used instead of DDT, Reese adds. However, cyanogas is toxic to humans and animals and should be applied only by persons fully acquainted with its properties. Inhabited buildings must be vacated and thoroughly ventilated before reentering if cyanogas is used.

Honey should not be recovered after chemicals are used to kill the bees, Reese warns.

Aerosol bombs and other insecticides containing low percentages of DDT are not effective bee killers, Reese adds.

He recommends protecting exposed portions of the body with a bee veil, gloves, and securing trouser legs at the ankles with string or elastic bands before spraying the bees. The bees may sting back.

New Rules Will Affect Soybean Grade System

New Standards Lower Dirt Content Allowed In Harvested Product

HUDSON, Iowa — Soybean producers will have to do a more careful job of growing and marketing soybeans this year than they have in the past if they are not to suffer penalties under the new revised grading standards, says George M. Strayer, executive vice president of the American Soybean Association.

The tighter standards which become effective Sept. 1 will reward the careful producer of soybeans. But they will penalize the careless one who delivers dirty soybeans, says Strayer.

Strayer points out that the most significant change from the present standards, which have been in effect since 1949, is lowering of foreign material content allowable by one per cent in each numerical grade. There will be allowed only two per cent foreign material on the 1955 crop instead of three per cent as in the recent past.

If the producer is to escape penalties he must:

1. Use more care in controlling weeds during the growing season, and

2. Operate his combine to remove foreign material more carefully than has been necessary in recent years.

Use Recleaners

In particular, combine operators should put their recleaners back on their combines and operate them according to instructions. And if buying a new combine, be sure there is a recleaner on it. There will be no profit in selling weed seed and trash this year.

Also, the operator should use more care in making adjustments on the combine for operating on soybeans. If the same screen sizes and air settings are used as for oats he won't be able to harvest clean beans.

The newer non-shattering varieties with pods higher on the stalk are helping cut down on field losses, but these still may be substantial, says Strayer. The reel and cutter bar should be set properly. With reasonably good adjustments these losses may be kept small.

Cylinder Losses

Controlling cylinder losses is a matter of adjusting the cylinder speed so there are very few unthreshed beans and a reasonably low percentage of cracked beans. If the cylinder is run too slow it will not remove all the beans from the pods, and too much threshing will result in a lot of cracked beans.

A wind blast should be used that gives a reasonably good cleaning performance. This, again, is a matter of compromise. Too much wind will blow the beans over, and too little wind will do a poor job of cleaning.

Another change in the standards that will affect producers is that soybeans with purple stain cannot be graded higher than No. 3. Purple stain is prevalent only in local areas, particularly in the South and Southeast. It will not be a problem elsewhere.

Purpose of the change is to keep the worst lots of purple-stained soybeans out of the No. 1 and No. 2 grades. The Department of Agriculture's "intentions are only to degrade those lots that present a very poor appearance on this account and which may not be degraded down to No. 3 otherwise," states Hazen P. English, in charge of USDA's general field headquarters at Chicago. "Actually, those degraded soybeans will probably contain a very high percentage of purple-mottled soybeans."

FARMER BLOCKS ROAD PROGRESS. Henry J. Odenheimer stands at one of the road blocks he set up at Allentown, Pa., to enforce his demands for settlement on land damages done his 22-acre farm when the Lehigh Valley Thruway (right) was built. The elderly farmer says that if they don't settle he will blow up the stone road with dynamite.

Using Vitamin Can Check Milk Fever

Pevention may eventually replace treatment for milk fever, says C. L. Blackman, Ohio State University extension specialist. Satisfactory treatment has been developed but prevention would be more satisfactory.

Drs. J. W. Hibbs and W. D. Pounden of the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station found 15,000,000 units of Vitamin D in a cow's feed twice each day for three to seven days prior to calving prevents milk fever. Hibbs would like dairymen to cooperate in further experiments.

Treatment should not be continued longer than seven days, Blackman warns. This means a dairyman must know when the cow can be expected to calve.

Chemical Can Produce Color Change in Eggs

COLUMBUS, O. — Hens that normally lay brown-shelled eggs will lay white eggs when nicarbazin is added to their ration, Dr. Glyde Marsh, Ohio State University extension poultryman, said today.

Nicarbazin is a new drug developed to control coccidiosis. Researchers at Delaware Experiment Station discovered the color change when hens were fed the new drug. It interferes with hatchability of eggs but has no other ill effects, Marsh said.

Forests in Ohio Produce Trees Of Large Size

The Ohio Forestry Association's state-wide hunt for big trees has already turned up some mighty monarchs of the Ohio forests. The nominations which have been entered in this quest for the biggest individual tree of each species measurement, but the "guesstimates" insure some close competition.

There is even a possibility that the great Rathbone Elm at Marietta may be supplanted as biggest-of-breed. On the farm of Charles Gernert, Bloomville, Seneca County, an elm measures 25 feet four inches in circumference at 4½ feet above the ground. Even if official figures from Marietta surpass that, the Seneca elm, greater in other dimensions, is a healthy growing tree. Another century added to its probable 300 years may give it the edge. That is unless a Sunbury contender, the Barcus Elm, lives up to its unofficial 25 feet 6 inches.

A box elder 20 miles from Toledo is said to be national champion at 18 feet 10 inches which was unknown to aspirants who entered an 11-footer and an 8-footer from Franklin County. A new record for red maples may be the 12 foot 7 inch circumference of a tree in Solon, Cuyahoga County, which upset a previous leader near Louisville, Stark County. A silver maple measuring 16 feet 3 inches near Tacoma, Belmont County, is also, unofficially, a new champion, as is a 16 foot white oak at Strongsville.

A 9 foot sassafrass near Oak Hill has been suggested, but North Madison, Lake County, already has one nearly four feet bigger. A sycamore of 22 feet, Walhonding Coshocton County, is also thought to be a new state champion. A white ash nearly 12 feet in circumference is the biggest yet nominated, although there are unconfirmed reports of an over-18 foot monster near Berlin Heights. A 9 foot 6 inch catalpa and a 16 foot cottonwood have also been submitted.

When these figures are verified, procedure, definite champions can be determined. Meantime big tree nominations can be sent to the Ohio Forestry Association, Southern Hotel, Columbus 15, Ohio.

Ohio Forestry Group Honored

Association Receives Conservation Award

For its public service program, "The Ohio Watershed Conservation Plan," the Ohio Forestry Association, Inc., has been given an Award of Merit by the American Trade Association Executives. The certificate was presented to William Laybourne, executive director of the forestry organization, by Russell A. Stevenson, Dean of the School of Business Administration, University of Michigan, at the recent 35th anniversary meeting at Machinac Island, Michigan.

These national awards were given to only twelve associations which have been of outstanding service to both industry and the public. Three of them, including that to the Ohio Forestry Association, were given on a state or local basis, the others to nation-wide groups. "We are proud to be the first state forestry association ever to be so honored." Mr. Laybourne commented, "and to be the only group to win this honor in the field of conservation."

The project for which the Ohio Forestry Association won recognition stemmed from water shortages since 1953 which have seriously endangered Ohio's economy. A year's research was undertaken by a 70-man committee representing industry, agriculture, communities and government agencies. A 200-page report was prepared, a digest of which is to be published in September, presenting relevant statistics on the state's 14 watersheds, and offering concrete plans which, in conjunction with sound forestry and soil practices, may become the basis for long-range water conservation projects.

Rinsing Equipment Removes Dry Milk

COLUMBUS — Rinsing dairy equipment with plenty of cool, clear water immediately after milking spells easier cleaning, says Frank Koval, Ohio State University extension dairy technologist.

Dried milk on dairy utensils makes cleaning difficult. Clean water readily washes fresh milk from equipment surfaces so it is a good habit to rinse all equipment with plenty of cool, clear water as soon as possible after milking. Lukewarm water cleans even more effectively if it is available, Koval states.

Raising and lowering the teatcup assembly in a bucket of water easily rinses milking machine parts, he adds. Run cold water over strainers and strip cups to rinse them.

After rinsing is completed, clean the equipment with brushes and dairy cleaners, Koval advises. Let equipment drain dry and sanitize with heat, chlorine or similar chemical solutions just before using.

A letter of interest to Cattle Feeders

August 10, 1955

Dear Mr. Cattleman,

Protein is only part of the story when it comes to feeding cattle. Your hay and grain furnishes your cattle all of the energy they need, but they are deficient in minerals and vitamins, and you need all of these to make a balanced ration.

You know what it takes to build a barn. You need 2x4's, 2x6's, siding boards, spikes, nails, etc. If you have a big pile of lumber and run out of nails, you can't put up the barn.

This may seem a little far fetched, but you know the same thing can happen feeding steers.

Whatever is lacking in an animal's ration is going to affect his gains. I'll grant that a single oil meal will take care of the amount of protein, but you need a balanced concentrate—One that contains a variety of amino acids, vitamins and minerals. And these can't be thrown together haphazardly. They have to be supplied in definite amount to meet the animal's needs. Otherwise your steers will consume more feed to make their gains.

A Steer can waste corn if his ration isn't balanced, but one thing is certain, he can't make protein, minerals and vitamins out of a surplus of carbohydrates. That's why when the supplement is right for the animal he can make his gains on less feed.

You will find that MASTER MIX BEEF FEEDS are properly balanced.

Come in today and book your needs.

We have a booking program and a cattle feeding finance program that can't be beat.

Yours Truly,
Marion Grain & Supply Co.

P.S. If you had too many 2x6's you could rip them to make 2x4's—On the other hand, if you needed 2x6's, you couldn't make them out of 2x4's.

Plot, Character and Frogs

The other evening I wandered down to the village here to see a friend of mine about borrowing a cat trap. As it happened, he was out fishing on the bay, and there was nobody in the house except his eight-year-old son, whose name is Billy. The child greeted me politely but a little absently because his attention was sternly fixed on the family television set. Deciding to wait for his father, I sat down and presently I was following the program, too.

This wasn't easy, because it had obviously been going on for quite a while, and the plot appeared to be rather intricate. I was further handicapped by the fact that for one reason and another, I haven't a set of my own, and the narrative technique — the special shorthand of this new art form — has always been a little mysterious to me. However, I concentrated on it to the best of my ability and presently the central facts began to emerge.

THE PRINCIPAL character, it seemed, was an actress by trade. She was a rather casually assembled woman, with a detachable British accent and a somewhat glum and snobbish expression. She was, however, unquestionably eminent in her profession since it was stated that she had appeared frequently and successfully in the works of Ibsen, Chekhov and Shakespeare.

Both Billy and I were distressed to discover that she was going blind, or at least that was his explanation of her habit of bumping into the furniture, and on the whole it seemed more reasonable than my first notion that she was just soused. Anyway, her case was a serious one, calling for an operation hitherto successfully performed only on white mice and people like the King of Siam.

IN THIS CRISIS, a local doctor showed up (I forgot to say that the action took place in a very small town) in the person of one of the most catastrophic actors I have ever seen. This man dosed her briefly with some blindness pills, but they were ineffective, and he told her that the operation was imperative and offered to perform it himself. The lady, however, had a poor opinion of this suggestion.

"If you're such a dandy doctor," she said in effect, "what are you doing in a dump like this?"

"They need me here," he replied. "They may be poor and inartistic by your standards, but they are my people."

"That is very commendable," she sneered, "but you aren't going to monkey with my eyes. Why don't you go out and heal a horse?"

This conversation, as you can see, got nowhere, and several ensuing ones were no better.

In her physician's absence, the lady took out her disagreeable nature on the natives, who were numerous and picturesque, insulting a kind old lady who brought her some dandelions and recoiling in distaste from a small boy who wished to show her his pet frog. She was, in fact, a typical example of intolerance in the surtax brackets.

INEVITABLY, HER sight grew worse, and things were looking very black indeed, when fortunately the Twentieth Century plunged off a bridge in the neighboring community of Thurber's Gap, killing 62 persons outright and injuring as many more.

It was quite a sight and it should have been because, unless my memory of newsreels has failed me, it was composed of shots of an actual disaster on the Long Island Railroad in Rockville Center.

The sequence of events here isn't precisely clear to me, but the next thing Billy and I knew the doctor and his patient were working side by side among the dead and dying. He performed offhand prodigies of surgery, while she, in spite of her infirmity, extricated several babies from the burning cars.

This went on for quite a while and they were both quite severely singed, but love, too, was born on that blazing battlefield, and presently, at dusk, they were standing together on a little hill.

At first they were content with shyly commending the scenery, but soon the conversation grew more personal and at last she murmured that she would be delighted to have him pick away at her cornea to his heart's content.

"You have no fear, Generil?" he asked.

"No, not after today, Saul."

"You are a brave woman."

"I am a very lucky one."

THE REST, of course, was more or less anti - climax. When the bandages came off, she whimsically pretended that the operation hadn't worked, but that was only her woman's device to draw him into her arms. So they were married and she gave up her career on the stage to help in his dispensary, and, for reasons I didn't quite catch, the little boy and his frog came to live with them, too.

I tax you with this synopsis only because I think it is possible that you, too, have been worrying about the effect of television on the young, and I can assure you that it is negligible.

After the program was over, I questioned Billy sharply about his reactions to it, wondering to what extent his mind had been addled by so much awful nonsense. He had, however, no opinions about medicine, the theater, or even love. He simply wished he had a frog.

PREDICTED MAN-MADE MOON. Three years ago this drawing by A. Leydenfrost illustrated a story in the "American Weekly" in which Maj. Alexander P. De Seversky, aviation pioneer, predicted that within an average lifetime "moons" made by men "will rise from the earth and ride the sky." While recent announcement that the United States will launch an earth satellite justified his prophetic words, Major De Seversky envisons something larger than the football-shaped object planned for the first American experiment. He foresees a manned "moon" that will some day become man's outpost in space.

Critics Agree Religious TV Not Too Strong

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK, (AP)—"I feel most of these Sunday morning religious television programs are weak," the man said. "But it's a tough thing to say. People think you're attacking religion."

"Not if you're specific," the older man said. "Not if you say what you don't like and why—and what you do like and why."

The older man has been a Protestant clergyman for 45 years. Retired now, he sat before the TV set with the younger man for a couple of Sunday mornings. They found themselves in close accord.

Both were impressed by the television presence of the clergy of all faiths upon the screen — Catholic, Jewish and Protestant. Without exception these men and sisters of the Catholic faith who appear on Sunday television are marked by a serenity and conviction that cannot be matched by the cleverest actors. After all, actors only speak lines written for them. But those who have devoted their lives to religion speak from the heart.

An example of a strong, assured presence on television last Sunday was the Rev. Robert E. Goodrich on The Pastor—Religion CBS-TV. It was his task to help a man purge himself of bigotry toward Jews. The theme of tolerance is a great and important one; probably it's the theme most frequently expressed on TV religious programs.

"But Goodrich found himself stuck with a thin story and poor actors," the younger man said when the program ended.

"Maybe there's a problem of budget there," said the retired clergyman. "And isn't it hard to develop any idea dramatically in only 15 minutes Regardless, I agree with you that it really wasn't a story at all. It was only a situation.

"But the important thing is to explain WHY bigotry is bad. From the programs I've seen that's where TV misses the boat. It doesn't take advantage of the dramatic opportunity to show how bigotry — how sin — corrodes the human soul. When you show that a bigot cannot be happy, you give a man a good reason not to be a bigot.

17-Mile Jump May Be Tried By Parachutist

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Man's biggest jump—from a height of 17 miles—may be tried by the Air Force next year. It's to discover how far a man can safely drop through rarified air before using a parachute.

A spokesman for the Wright air Development Center in nearby Wright-Patterson Air, Force Base, says the balloon-flight tests are planned for early next year at New Mexico's Holloman AFB.

Capt. Edward Sperry and Lt. Henry P. Nielson will make the daring leaps. They helped the Air Force devise a B-47 ejection seat, and in the process become co-holders of the world's altitude record for aircraft ejection — 45,200 feet.

This record was set last year. The men used parachutes attached to the ejection seats to come down safely.

The current high-altitude record was set in 1935 by Capt. Orvil Anderson and Capt. Albert Stevens of the Army Air Corps, who jumped from a height of 72,395 feet after balloon takeoff from Rapid City, N. D.

The prospective jumps will provide data for design of a stabilized ejection seat for high-flying jets.

Man Killed in Accident

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP) — A three car auto accident seven miles east of here last night on U. S. 20 killed Cyril P. Entrup, 44, of Painesville. He was thrown to the pavement when his car was hit from behind and then struck by a car coming in the opposite direction.

Bucyrus Board Studies Bids on Sewage Project

BUCYRUS — The municipal board of control here is checking four bids received for construction of additional sewage sludge beds at the sewage disposal plant, Safety-Service Director A. L. Winter reported today.

Lowest bidder was W. C. Stumbo, Marion. His bid was $15,512. Other bids include: Leon Riley, Norwalk, $18,564; E. G. Funk, New London, $19,972; and Richland Construction Co., Mansfield, $21,632.

City council gave the go-ahead to the improvement in May after a letter was read from the state health department, regarding unsanitary conditions along the Sandusky River, west of Bucyrus, allegedly due to unsatisfactory operation of the disposal plant.

The additional sludge beds are expected to correct the situation, Winter said. The improvement will be financed with money from the sewage disposal plant trust fund.

Newspapers Improving

CINCINNATI (AP) — Newspapers are getting better all the time, says Howard N. King of York, Pa., a former president of the International Assn. of Printing House Craftsmen. He said tomorrow's newspapers will be more informative, more interesting and "generally snappier in a high class way." He made his remarks yesterday in connection with the association's 36th annual convention.

Ike's Progress Noted

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—An Ohio State University journalism professor says President Eisenhower's press conferences have been notable on two points. These, said Prof. James E. Pollard, are inauguration of telecasts and increased use of direct quotations of the President. Polland, writing in a current issue of Journalism Quarterly, said Eisenhower made fast progress in his press relations despite a "natural unsureness" at the start of his term.

New Record for Assembly

Air-Conditioned Capitol Drawing Many Visitors

By REED SMITH

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Hot weather visitors to Ohio's air conditioned legislative halls are on the increase.

Statehouse officials believe persistent temperatures in the high 90's helped swell the sightseeing total. They say a new record is assured.

Even Columbus folk who never visited the Capitol are stepping from baked pavements to enjoy the salubrious oasis at Board and High Sts.—crossroads of Ohio.

Temperature Just 75

Senate and House chambers on the second floor are a pleasnat 75 degrees. They are open to the public without charge.

Capitol Guide Vincent Maher and Guard Leo Armbrust conduct groups about the near-century old stone building. Sometimes tours last an hour. Attendants are on hand to answer questions of individuals and small groups.

They include Sergeant-at-Arms Mark W. Bennett and his assistant, Roy W. Cornell in the House. Richard Grinstead and Charles E Kinsler Jr., who direct pages during the legislative session, greet Senate visitors.

Well over 100 persons visit the Capitol daily. Maher expects the daily average to hit that figure for the rest of the year without including small groups in the total.

He says they come from throughout Ohio, every state and a surprising number of foreign nations.

Many Pupils Visit

More school pupils visited the Legislature during its recent session than ever before. Groups totaled more than 20,000 before the end of June. Largest total for one day was 1,420. An excursion from eastern Ohio last May 7 accounted for that figure

More than 2,000 visitors toured the building in groups last month Maher figures the year's total may hit 35,000, an all-time high. Visitors during state fair week will help swell the number.

Next to the Legislature when in session, the biggest attraction is the glass-encased battle flags of regiments that fought in the Civil, Spanish and World Wars. They line the vaulted Statehouse rotunda.

Visitors also like to try out the House speaker's chair in which the late President Abe Lincoln once sat In the Senate, the lieutenant governor's chair is a favorite.

A $125,000 system cools the legislative halls in summer and heats them in winter. The expensive machinery under the Statehouse roof also removes dirt and moisture before circulating the air

Some cool air spills into the rotunda and down elevator shafts to other parts of the Capitol. Most offices of elected state officials also have individual air conditioning.

Gov. Frank J. Lausche, Secretary of State Ted W Brown Treasurer Roger W. Tracy and Auditor James A Rhodes often greet visitors personally during tours.

Always an interesting place, the Statehouse offers an added attraction in cool comfort to visitors during super-hot days.

Governor To Appoint Salk Advisory Group

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A state health official says Gov. Frank J. Lausche will appoint an advisory committee to assure fair distribution of Salk polio vaccine in Ohio.

Dr. Malcolm L. Robbins, acting chief of the communicable diseases division of the state health department, made the statement as the U. S. Public Health Service yesterday approved 1,177,068 shots of the vaccine for use by state and local agencies and private doctors throughout the nation Ohio's allocation will be 53,346 shots of one cubic centimeter each, the health service said.

Suzan Ball Buried; Courage Is Praised

GLENDALE, Calif. (AP) — Suzan Ball was buried Tuesday in her wedding dress.

More than 1,500 fans and friends passed by as her body lay in state in the Church of the Recessional at Forest Lawn Memorial Park. Said Dr. Louis H. Evans, Presbyterian minister, at the celebrity-crowded services later:

"On the stage of life she won an Oscar for courage by the help of God"

He praised the bravery of the 21-year-old actress and her husband, actor Richard Long.

"When they walked down the aisle to the altar just over a year ago, they knew this day might come," said Dr Evans "But she taught us what it was like to wear the body like a loose garment It never constricted her soul nor strangled her spirit"

Miss Ball, who overcame the handicap of a leg amputation 18 months ago to be married and resume her career, died of cancer last Friday.

Woman Gets Her School Diploma After 34 Years

PIKEVILLE, Ky. (AP)—It took 34 years for Mrs. Joe Hunt to get through high school, but not because she was slow in learning.

Mrs. Hunt, 49, wife of a Delbarton, W. Va , coal miner, took 30 years off to get married and rear a family of eight children. She finished high school last May.

With almost a full summer's college work at Pikeville Junior College behind her, she is starting on a four-year course which will lead to a high school teacher's certificate.

Rotarians Hear Discussion on Heart Surgery

Dr. Philip W. Smith Presents Program at Weekly Club Meeting

Members of Marion Rotary Club heard an informative talk on heart surgery by Dr. Philip W. Smith, a club member, at the weekly meeting Tuesday noon at Hotel Harding.

Dr. Smith traced the development of heart surgery and pointed out the idea of operating on the heart is relatively new. Most of the major strides in heart surgery have been taken in the last 10 years and the first successful "blue baby" operation was in 1945.

Using diagrams, the speaker explained the working of the heart and discussed common heart defects. He also enumerated the recent advances whereby the heart has been opened and operations performed in the inside of the heart under direct vision.

Dr. Smith also used motion pictures and slides to show normal and defective heart valves and to explain the manner in which the defects could be corrected or eased.

The speaker is a partner in the Frederick C. Smith Clinic and specializes in thoracic surgery. He also teaches one day a week at the Ohio State University College of Medicine and is a consultant in thoracic surgery at the Dayton Veterans Hospital.

Dr. Smith was introduced by John Bartram, program chairman for August. Guests were introduced by William Pohler Jr.

Visiting Rotarians included Herbert J. Schroeder of the Milwaukee, Wis., club, who is being transferred to Marion with the Whirlpool Corp., J. L. Patterson of Cardington, Clarence Lenz of Joliet, Ill., O. F. Kime of Bucyrus, James Floyd Bowman of St. Petersburg, Fla., and E. C. Dolbeer of Brooksville, O. Guests were Rev. Martin L. Dolbeer, John Rall and Harry Steiner, all of Marion, Dick Alrich of Sandusky, O., and Harry White of Delaware.

76th Anniversary Marked by Couple Living in Oklahoma

SNYDER, Okla. (AP)—Two celebrations in one hot summer are too much, says a Kiowa County couple who observed their 76th wedding anniversary today.

A little over a month ago, neighbors helped the husband, W. A. (Uncle Bunch) Fullingim, celebrate his 100th birthday with a stag party at the home of a son. Only the family was invited to today's quiet occasion.

Fullingim and his 95-year-old wife Annie are natives of Texas. He was born in Clarksville, Tex., in 1855 and she was born in Decatur, Tex., four years later. They were married in Denton, Tex., in 1879.

They crossed into southwest Oklahoma in the 1890s and carved a cattle domain in the foothills of the Wichita Mountains.

Fullingim is believed Oklahoma's oldest active rancher.

The observance at the ranch home today included a daughter, Mrs. Madge Walker, Altus, Okla.; two sons, Frank and Will, who live nearby; and three grandchildren.

Buddy Baer Tells Why He Can't Pay Alimony

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Former prize fighter Jacob (Buddy) Baer said Tuesday in explaining why he couldn't pay $750 alimony arrears: "I'm too old to fight, and I haven't had enough acting experience to be a good wrestler." The judge dismissed the suit, brought by Baer's estranged wife, May Mann, movie fan magazine writer and Miss Utah of 1938. Baer, 40, said he is a film actor but has earned only $6,000 so far this year—a sum consumed by living expenses.

Dr. Greetham Will Head Division in Appeals Drive

Dr. James S. Greetham has been appointed chairman of the professional division of the United Appeals. Announcement of his appointment was made today by Dr. Frederick T. Merchant, general chairman.

The professional division consists of some 252 offices of physicians, dentists, attorneys, insurance people, realtors, ministers and a few miscellaneous categories. Dr. Greetham will appoint seven team captains, who in turn will be assisted by approximately 36 campaign workers.

Dr. Greetham, a native of Fremont, has been an ophthalmologist in Marion since 1947. He served for four years in the Army during the second World War. He received his bachelor of art's degree from Bowling Green State University and his medical degree from Western Reserve University in Cleveland.

His graduate work in the field of ophthalmology was done at the University of Pennsylvania. He holds memberships in numerous medical societies, including the Marion County Academy of Medicine. He is a past president of Rotary Club and is active on the district committee for the Boy Scouts, and has worked on previous United Appeals drives.

DR. JAMES GREETHAM
Accepts Campaign Post

Dr. Greetham and his wife, the former Mary Gray of Waterville, reside at 309 Lafayette St., with their daughter, Lynn Louise, who will be in the 9th grade, and their son, James Jr., who will be in the first grade.

The 1955 United Appeals drive will get under way on Oct. 3.

Requirements Set Up For First Grade Pupils

All children expecting to enter the first grade in the city schools in September must present birth verification, must be vaccinated against smallpox, and immunized against diphtheria, the City School Office reported today.

A child must be six before Nov. 1, 1955 to be eligible for school entrance, and a birth certificate or mother's certificate should be presented the first day of school. Smallpox vaccination must be evidenced by a scar or a note from a physician. A signed statement from a physician must be presented stating the child has been immunized against diphtheria.

These requirements are for all children starting school in the first grade as well as those transferring from other cities who have not been immunized against these diseases.

Ike Signs Two Bills

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower Tuesday signed bills extending the Defense Production and Small Business Administration act.

The Defense Production Act, continued for one year, provides for allocations and priorities in funneling materials to military and atomic contracts and help in building the capacity of defense plants. It also forbids ships and planes to visit Red China or to carry items destined for Red China.

The business measure increases the total revolving fund available for small business loans from 150 million dollars to 175 millions. It also increases the maximum loan a single firm may get from $150,000 to $250,000. Its provisions were extended for two years.

Employes Warned BUC Expects High Standards

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The administrator of the Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation warned BUC employes today he "would not tolerate immorality during working hours, or misfeasance or malfeasance in handling of claims."

Ernest Cornell, the administrator, issued the directive after a decision by the Ohio Civil Service Commission affirming Cornell's action removing the manager and two women employes of the BUC's Toledo office.

Cornell told the employes he expected "only the strictest adherence to duty" while they were with the bureau.

This School Levy a 'Must'

The fall election still is quite a ways off, but one fact about this year's school levy must be kept firmly in mind by all of us in the interim.

The 9.2 levy for operating expenses of Marion city schools, filed last Friday with the board of elections, is not an additional levy but a renewal. Passage of the issue will not result in increased property taxation.

In fact, the 9.2 levy is a reduction from the 10 mills voted for the same purpose four years ago. The decrease results from a revaluation of real property made in 1952 and is brought about under the law that provides that if necessary, all prior levies shall be reduced to bring the same amount of money for which they were originally voted.

Comprising approximately one-third of the Marion city schools' total revenue, this levy is simply to continue the operation of the schools. It is so basic the schools undoubtedly would be forced to close if, by some unheard of turn of events, the levy should be defeated.

This levy needs no promotion nor salesmanship to point out additional personnel or services that would result from its passage. All any voter has to decide on this one is whether he wants our city schools to continue in operation.

If he does, the answer is an automatic "yes."

Action To Reconsider

The question of whether or not the U.S. Navy Department should deny a reserve commission to a Merchant Marine cadet because his mother formerly was a Communist will be answered by public opinion.

A Navy spokesman says denial of the commission was a "considered action" but does not tell what was taken into consideration. That information will have to be drawn out by public opinion—as the Navy Department may have intended it should be.

Having been burned on security regulations before, Navy officials may welcome a chance to be forced to reconsider a considered action that has penalized a son for his mother's politics. It seems to be important in this case, moreover, that she dropped out of the Communist party on her son's urging in 1947, when he was still in his teens.

Public opinion in the United States is the ultimate recourse of those who want to appeal from official decisions against them. Every citizen now has been informed of the case of the Merchant Marine cadet vs. the U.S. Navy. The outcome rests with the citizens, themselves. Unless the Navy produces good reasons, the citizens who support it will not underwrite its decision to penalize a son for his mother's politics, either past or present.

Money That Grows

An account of the Rockefeller philanthropies published in The New York Times last Sunday opens the eyes of those of us who are unfamiliar with the behavior of large sums of money. That includes all but a very few of us.

The elder Rockefeller began to give away his money on the advice of Frederick T. Gates, who became his financial adviser in the 1880's. He did it for self-protection and for the welfare of his children, because Gates pointed out that the size of the Rockefeller fortune would make it unwieldy.

Unwieldy? Money?

The Rockefeller bequests have reached a total of something over 2½ billion dollars in the century since the founder of the Rockefeller fortune began to give away money in 1855, at the beginning of his career.

There now is even more than this amount of money remaining — and a billion dollars at 6 per cent compound interest reproduces itself every 12 years. There is no end in sight to the philanthropies that can be made from Rockefeller wealth, although so much already has been given away that its total can only be guessed.

Large sums of money, in other words, do not behave like small sums of money; they do not dwindle. They keep getting larger.

Weather Candor

There has been more candor about the weather lately than there usually is. Close-mouthed victims of its uncertainty finally have been saying what they think about it.

The consensus is that the weather leaves much to be desired, day in and day out. Spring is an endless succession of unseasonable snows, freezes and rains. When summer comes, it overplays its role and kills vegetation and humanity with its dry heat. Winter, of course, is the season no one mentions without an air of dull resignation; it has nothing to commend it but a single fact: It is stimulating.

Its victims must hustle to stay alive.

This leaves Autumn, the only season no one criticizes sharply. But even in fall there is a gimmick. No one expects much. Summer is over and winter is due. Everybody is thankful for being out of the frying pan and not yet into the snow drift. Anything would be an improvement over what has just been survived and the worse weather dead ahead. Autumn looks good by comparison.

The weather leaves nearly everything to be desired.

Struggle for Peace

By David Lawrence

Elihu Root Among League of Nations Pioneers

There's a tendency nowadays to think that only the present generation of statesmen have brought forth great principles as a basis for the settlement of international disputes by peaceful means.

Lawrence

Every now and then some comments are heard from Democratic quarters, for example, that the Republican party historically is the party of "isolation" or that the Republicans of today "haven't had a new idea since McKinley's day."

Such superficial and obviously partisan outbursts are sometimes accepted as gospel by those who don't know the facts of history.

Accordingly, it is interesting to read the text of a letter, recently revealed, which was written by Elihu Root on Aug. 16, 1918, to Col. House, the personal envoy and confidante of President Woodrow Wilson.

Root, a great international lawyer, had been secretary of war in President McKinley's cabinet, secretary of state in the cabinet of President Theodore Roosevelt and later a U.S. senator from New York.

He had much to do with the movement that led to the formation of the League of Nations.

He was "Mr. Republican" in those days so far as the conservative wing of the party was concerned, and during the 1920 presidential campaign he joined with a group of distinguished Republicans, including former President Taft and Charles Evans Hughes, in urging American entry into the League of Nations.

WHAT ROOT WROTE in 1918 not only is prophetic of the same point in the United Nations Charter of today as written into Article 11 by Sen. Vandenberg, Republican, but, in particular, gives a historic basis for the recent pronouncement by Secretary Dulles advocating that Red China renounce the use of force in the Far East irrespective of whether it considers Formosa "an internal matter."

The doctrine expressed by Dulles holds that a breach of the peace affecting large areas and interests can be of international concern even though considered by the parties to be limited to them alone. Root outlined the broader view in his letter, which reads as follows:

"The first requisite for any durable concert of peaceable nations to prevent war is a fundamental change in the principle to be applied to international breaches of the peace.

"The view now assumed and generally applied is that the use of force by one nation toward another is a matter in which only the two nations concerned are primarily interested, and if any other nation claims a right to be heard on the subject it must show some specific interest of its own in the controversy.

"THAT BURDEN of proof rests upon any other nation which seeks to take part if it will relieve itself of the charge of impertinent interference and avoid the resentment which always meets impertinent interference in the affairs of an independent sovereign state.

"This view was illustrated by Germany in July, 1914, when she insisted that the invasion of Serbia by Austria-Hungary was a matter which solely concerned two states, and upon substantially that ground refused to agree to the conference proposed by Sir Edward Grey.

"The requisite change is an abandonment of this view and a universal, formal and irrevocable acceptance of the view that an international breach of the pace is a matter which concerns every member of the community of nations — a matter in which every nation has a direct interest and to which every nation has a right to object.

"These two views correspond to the two kinds of responsibility in municipal law which we call civil responsibility and criminal responsibility. If I make a contract with you and break it, it is no business of our neighbor. You can sue me or submit, and he has nothing to say about it.

"ON THE OTHER HAND, if I assault and batter you, every neighbor has an interest in having me arrested and punished, because his own safety requires that violence shall be restrained.

At the basis of every community lies the idea of organization to preserve the peace. Without that idea really active and controlling there can be no community of individuals or of nations. It is the gradual growth and substitution of this idea of community interest in preventing and punishing breaches of the peace which has done away with private war among civilized peoples

"The Monroe Doctrine asserted a specific interest on the part of the United States in preventing certain gross breaches of the peace on the American continent; and when President Wilson suggested an enlargement of the Monroe Doctrine to take in the whole world, his proposal carried by necessary implications the change of doctrine which I am discussing.

"The change may seem so natural as to be unimportant, but it is really crucial, for the old doctrine is asserted and the broader doctrine is denied by approximately half the military power of the world, and the question between the two is one of the things about which the war is being fought.

"THE CHANGE involves a limitation of sovereignty making every sovereign state subject to the superior right of a community of sovereign states to have the peace preserved. The acceptance of any such principle would be fatal to the whole Prussian theory of the state and of government

"When you have got this principle accepted openly, expressly, distinctly, unequivocally by the whole civilized world, you will for the first time have a community of nations, and the practical results which will naturally develop will be as different from those which have come from the old view of national responsibility as are the results which flow from the American Declaration of Independence compared with the results which flow from the Divine Right of Kings."

Weeds, Bugs and Men

By TRUMAN TWILL

Everyone who grapples with nature eventually becomes a philosopher. He cannot deny the evidence that he is only one tiny speck in nature's plan and cannot hope to exert any influence.

Even a weekend farmer learns how it works. He and the weed and bugs are equals in nature's plan.

He begins to dream in March about the gardening he will do in April. But it is the middle of May before he can start because nature has plans about storing up water in the soil and covering it securely with a mat of chick weed to protect it from eager-beaver gardeners before it is ready.

By the time nature has quit storing water and the weekend farmer has priced off the chickweed and stirred up the soil, it is June, the month of dandelions. All rainfall then ceases at the critical moment for the germination of the seeds that have been buried where the chick weed was. The dandelions take over, because they need no rain.

Eventually, some of the seeds germinate — vegetable and flower as well as weeds but not in the same profusion. Gardening is the art of knowing how to discourage the latter and encourage the former.

When the dandelions have slowed up and the cutworms have retired, the pig weed shows its mettle. It is accompanied by red spiders and bean beetles. They are accompanied by a retinue of hungry camp followers.

The tomatoes come down with the wilt, and the cantaloupes get the pip. The cucumbers are afflicted with vegetative hepatitis, and the sweet corn breaks out with an oriental malady.

The gladiolis get thrip. Leprosy afflicts the strawberries. Drought sets in. The petunias sag at the knees. Termites take over the broccoli. The grass turns brown. Roses break out with black spot and take to their death beds.

Trees are mottled with worm nests. Overnight there is an endless expanse of buckhorn sticking up its indestructible head where there was to have been an eye-pleasing vista of lush green grass.

Plantain muscles in. That hyena of the vegetable world, crab grass, breaks out like smallpox in all the old familiar places.

Poplars give up the ghost and drop their leaves. The hardy phlox turn pale. By August the whole thing has boiled down to a race for survival with the odds favoring sour dock, purslane, poverty grass and thistles.

Yet, out of his disaster the weekend farmer emerges with beans running out of his ears, enough tomatoes to bring back vaudeville, a surplus of corn, more carrots than he knows what to do with, an adequate supply of flowers and a renewed understanding of his own infinite unimportance.

In September he puts his tools in dead storage and starts dreaming. By March he will have forgotten his disappointments and be concentrating again on his conviction that some year he will win his battle with nature hands down.

Davy in Fact and Fancy

By Raymond Moley

SANTA BARBARA

It may occur to some readers that the subject, Davy Crockett, more properly should appear in the entertainment or child-care sections of a newspaper than in a commentary on political and economic affairs.

Normally that should be true, but these are not normal days, nor was the Hon. David Crockett a normal man. I believe that he claimed he was half wild-cat or something. But in these days of his glory he is not half of anything, since he is about 99 per cent fiction.

Indeed, he misses only by a hair's breadth that happy state of complete fancy enjoyed by Snow White or Dopey. Nothing can be said about their private lives because they had none. They are just what children want them to be, with an assist from Mr. Disney.

There was a David Crockett and it becomes us to recognize the fact. Moreover, he has appeared in the Congressional Record after an absence from the annals of Congress of approximately 120 years. His restoration to the Record is due to the efforts of the Hon. Clyde Doyle, who represents the 23rd California District.

It seems that Rep. Doyle found his colleagues talking about Crockett in the same breath with Harold Talbott, Sen. Kefauver, and other recent notables Also, he felt that since he hopes to be in Congress for a long while, he had better do something to attract the vote of future generations.

Doyle asked the Library of Congress about it and received a complete record of the contributions to statesmanship of the Hon. David Crockett, who served in the 20th, the 21st, and the 23rd Congresses, or, with the exception of two years, from 1827 to 1835.

The research disclosed that, after killing bears for a while or at any rate telling about killing bears, he decided to enter the transportation business.

He attempted to float a cargo of staves down the Mississippi but this effort ended in total disaster. He barely escaped with his life.

Perhaps he had heard, even in that early day, that businessmen do not do well in politics. From that, Crockett's reasoning led him to believe that, since he had adequately proved that he was no businessman, he might be a good congressman Anyway, he ran and was elected.

An apparently careful search of the archives revealed the bills and resolutions introduced by Crockett. An examination of these items show no great record as a constructive legislator. But they indicate clearly that he would, if now alive and in politics, be a prominent member of the Kefauver, Morse, Humphrey or welfare-state wing of the Democratic party.

Thus, it is not without significance that the senior senator from Tennessee received national recognition by introducing the coonskin cap in his campaign, thus anticipating Walt Disney by several years.

Crockett's scanty record clearly shows that he anticipated the Truman Fair Deal by well over a century. In the first place, six of his 21 proposals were for pensions for various war veterans.

That establishes the fact that this man, despite his claimed love of adventure, was a pioneer in social security.

Four proposals were to give away land to settlers, thus establishing him as the father of federal reclamation.

He introduced a resolution to make a survey for a canal from Muscle Shoals to the Big Naches. Certainly this aligns him with FDR. and the late Sen Norris as a progenitor of the TVA.

Six proposals were for new "post routs" and highways. He would certainly have supported Gen. Clay's highway plan.

Finally, he introduced a resolution to abolish West Point. This prejudice against the Army may account for the fact that he hired a man to take his place in the Creek War.

His literary contributions are now being read by thousands. The Library of Congress says of his authorship:

"To what degree the autobiographical writings published under his name were his own cannot be said; but it is noteworthy that they bear little resemblance, either in substance or manner, to such of his letters as have come down to us now."

Perhaps, indeed, he introduced the ghost writer to the realm of statesmanship.

All of which shows that Americans have a way of their own about their selection of heroes. They are dead set against letting cold historians make their choices for them.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

All Done by Elms

Saratoga, N. Y. has the oldest horse track in America and is the cradle of wrong guessing. It is one of the few tracks where the horses look safe among the spectators. Saratoga does something to the habits and mannes of case-hardened non-sentimental racing fans, softening their facial expressions, curbing their hysteria between races and preventing them from dining in their suspenders in the club-house.

The race fan who cries, "You can't lose, champ," as his choice leaves the barrier and bawls, "Ya dirty quitter," if it loses by a nose is in the minority here.

IF HE BREATHES deeply of the air up here he develops an ability to lose without indulging in disorderly conduct, gives a lady the right of way in dash to a mutuels window and doesn't snap at children. Loud noises at night may be his dish but in Saratoga he finds music in the crickets. It is nothing to see him put down his racing sheet to watch a butterfly.

At most tracks we see only dark conspirators, but at Saratoga we see U.S. Grant, Lily Langtry, E. H. Sothern, tallyhoes full of early Vanderbilts and Jim Fiske opening wine for Floradora girls. If there were pearl gray derbies in the window we would buy one.

Consider the Saratoga spectator. . . he makes his selections leisurely, goes to the track in mid-afternoon and does put down his bets like a maniac after the brass ring on a carousel. He can lose a race without demanding a congressional inquiry. He has moods in this shady city when he is not certain whether he is a horse player or a bird-watcher. (It could be a photo finish if he underwent a test.)

HE DRINKS MINERAL WATERS and for once in the year reads the label on bottles. He studies the charts in an atmosphere of early American military history. The Battlefield of Saratoga is near and a racing addict from the Bronx or Canarsie will show interest in the armies and their commanders, if you give him the weights and past performances.

He takes his lawns, gardens and rustic scenery straight with no moans if there are no pink flamingoes. He takes time out to see the rank Sullivan Hideaway, all the cottages in which Monty Woolley once slept.

HE GETS A KICK out of a place where there are stately old homesteads that have not been turned into funeral parlors. He likes the track grounds and feels that when he goes to the paddock he is exploring the forest primeval. He looks at a three-year-old with a hunch that Hiawatha could appear as the jockey and get his riding instructions from the Stable of Minnehaha. Saratoga works miracles.

It brings out horse players who really seem to love animals and wouldn't shoot a jockey over the loss of a $2 show bet. (Pardon us, please. Somebody wants us on the phone and it could be Minnie Maddern Fiske, Kyrle Bellew, Foxhall Keene, Man O'War, or a chorus girl from "The Black Crook.")

"Air Force to Create Artificial Moon Glow" headline. . . Tinpan Alley has been doing it for generations.

Ecuador Pushes Plans for Two New Highways

QUITO, Ecuador (UP) — In the next three years, Ecuador will add more than 600 miles to its present highway system at a cost of $35,000,000.

The basic plan provides for two new roads to connect the top of the Andes with the Pacific Coast; completion of the Pan American Highway that crosses the country from north to south; construction of a route parallel to the Pan American highway, halfway between the mountains and the coast to open up vast territories for cultivation, and the improvement of three existing roads.

Few countries in the world could offer greater difficulties to the execution of such a plan. Ecuador straddling the equator between Peru and Colombia, is crossed by two ranges of the Andes studded with 22 peaks ranging from 14,000 to more than 20,000 feet in altitude.

To open up this mountain region to motor transportation and connect it with the Pacific, one of the projected roads will have to cross the Andean ranges at altitudes of 12,000 feet and more. Walls of rock will have to be cut and deep chasms bridged.

So great are the hazards of road construction in Ecuador that numerous small native and foreign companies have been forced to break their contracts with the government and leave the job to several big firms that can throw in more and bigger machinery and thousands of workers.

A 165-mile long road just completed between Cuenca and Pasaje took almost 20 years to build. Walls of rock 75 feet high had to be dynamited. A total of 59 streams and small rivers—roaring torrents in the rainy season—had to be bridged.

But this road gives southern Ecuador direct motor access to the sea for the first time in history.

Another road expected to be completed this year will provide the shortest connection between Quito, the capital, (at 9,250 feet altitude) and the Pacific port of Esmeraldes.

Although ordered to be built by Simon Bolivar, South America's liberator, over a century ago work was not started until 1927, due to extraordinary technical difficulties. The Ecuadorian company in charge of the work now expects the last 20 miles of this 192-mile long route to reach the coast by the end of December.

Ohio Truck Driver Killed in Collision

KENDALLVILLE, Ind. (AP) — A half-ton pickup truck came up over a hill on the wrong side of Ind. 3 five miles south of here late last night, police said, and smacked headon into a semi-trailer, killing one person and injuring two others.

Kennell Mosley, 30, Willard, Ohio, driver of the pickup, was killed instantly.

Mrs. Sylvia Irene Stout, about 34, Kendallville, riding with Mosley, was taken to a Kendallville hospital in critical condition with internal injuries.

Howard Sullivan, 25, Newaygo, Mich., was knocked from his tractor into blazing gasoline. He was burned severely on the hands and face before he rolled into grass wet with dew and extinguished the flames. He was treated by a doctor and then taken to a hospital at Garrett, Ind.

Two Escaped Convicts Caught, 3 Still at Large

LA GRANGE, Ky. (AP) — Three escaped convicts were still at large today following the recapture of two about three miles from La Grange Reformatory.

The five fled the prison early Monday, sawing bars in their dorimitory window and then cutting through a fence.

Captured Tuesday were Lurton Pepper, 21, Dover, Tenn., and Robert T. Webb, 26, Xenia, Ohio.

Still free are George E. Carroll, 24, Louisville; Ernest Fannin, 26, Louisa, Ky., and Edward Stebbins, 26, Sanger, Calif.

WOKE TOO SOON. These two were thought to be cinch winners in the "Sleepiest" contest in Ladera park, Los Angeles. But lo! they woke up just as the judging started. They are twins Randy (rear) and Johnnie Aprahamian, 6½ months old.

2 Join Engineering Firm's Staff Here

K. J. Maxwell of 160 Sharpless Ct. also told police Tuesday afternoon that his car had been pilfered Monday night while parked at the rear of the G. C. Murphy Store on W. Center St. He said a small tool kit had been stolen and placed its value at $6.

Maxwell's was the third report police received of auto pilfering at the same location Monday night.

Wrist Watch Found

A man's yellow gold wrist watch was turned over to police Tuesday night by a Marion man who found it in the men's rest room at the County Courthouse. B. V. McCombs of 431 Olney Ave. told police he found the watch on one of the wash stands.

Report at Geneva

Canada May Have Atom Power Within Ten Years

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Reporter

GENEVA (AP) — Canada reported today that within 10 years she may be producing atomic power that can compete in some areas with coal and water power.

And from 1970 on, two Canadians experts told the 72-nation atoms-for-peace conference, atomic power may begin to emerge "as a major, if not the major, source of electricity in Canada."

Two Make Report

J. Davis, an economist of Canada's Department of Trade and Commerce, and W. B. Lewis, research vice president of the dominion's atomic project at Chalk River, Ont., made the report.

They told delegates to the U. N.-sponsored meeting that the performance of one of Canada's research reactors and other studies raised the possibility of producing power at 7 mills per kilowatt hour within the next 10 years.

A mill is one tenth of a cent.

"Atomic energy plants with an even better performance than this may well be under construction in Canada before 1965," they added.

The Canadians said that because of their country's abundant water and coal resources, nuclear power must drop below 8 mills before it can compete "anywhere in Canada."

"At 7 mills," they continued, "it might be able to compete with hydro or coal-fired steam power. However, these demands would be imited (in the near future).

Different at 6 Mills

"But at 6 mills, the situation is different. The highly developed power-consuming region of southern Ontario—where imported coal will soon be the only alternative—could absorb large blocks of power in this cost range without creating even a temporary surplus of generating capacity."

The Canadians predicted their country's start in the atomic power field would be modest, with only a few test reactors in operation and with the government providing some of the financial backing. Then, between 1960 and 1970, they forecast an increasing number of nuclear plants under construction, with private industry shouldering most if not all of the cost.

"By 1980," they said, "nuclear power plants may conceivably account for as much as 10 to 15 per cent of the total generating capacity in this country."

Britain's top atomic scientist said his country hopes to so improve the nuclear power process that by the end of the century one ton of uranium will do the work of a million tons of coal.

Sir John Cockcroft, director of the Harwell atomic energy research establishment, told the conference of Britain's plans for use of nuclear energy to offset her dwindling coal resources.

Britain already has announced plans to complete 12 nuclear power stations between 1960 and 1965. Cockcroft said each ton of uranium used in these reactors is expected to give the energy equivalent of 10,000 tons of coal.

On the basis of total expenditures for salaries and wages of county officials and employes, Marion County ranked fairly low in the state in per capita costs in 1954, James A. Rhodes, state auditor reported today.

Marion County's per capita costs for paying its county officials and employes was $8.37. The state average was $9.32, while the highest county was Pike with a cost of $19.30 per person. Lorain County ranked lowest with $6.75 per person.

All six counties surrounding Marion County had higher per capita costs, according to the report by Rhodes.

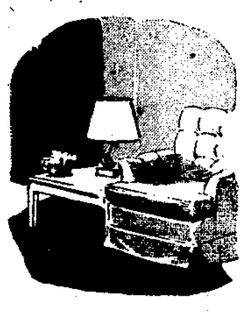
DON'T WASTE LIGHT
The most important of all lighting considerations in the well-planned home are those of comfort and efficiency. Most general mistake made is that of placing lamps where light is needed for particular purposes — like reading and precise work—so low that the light falls on the floor rather than on the book or work.


PROPERLY PLACED LAMPS . . .

. . . and lamps with tables that are high enough to cast direct light to the spot needed are the answer to this problem. Lamp tables should be the same height as chair and/or sofa arms both for appearance and efficiency. Lamps may vary from 26" to 32" high depending upon individual requirements.

Ex-Slave, 108, Feels He Could Last 50 More

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Dan Hughes is 108 today but may take to preaching yet. He's done almost everything else.

"If nothing breaks me down, I'll live another 50 years. I've never been sick in my life and never took doctor's medicine."

Hughes, who lives with a daughter, says the "Lord's sparing me for something, and I just can't figure out what it is. It might be preaching."

Crossing and uncrossing his legs with the agility of a teen-ager, the former slave recalled in an interview his years on steamboats, farms and dray wagons, where he spent 50 years shoveling coal.

"It was too much for me and I finally had to give it up."

His hearing also is excellent but not his sight.

"When I go to thread a needle these days, I got to hold it up pretty close so I can see it."

The birthday party today will be a simple affair, attended by his grandson, his five great-grandchildren and his four great-great-grandchildren.

Clubs Get Plaque for Work at Home

PRESENTATION of a plaque in recognition of assistance given by two service clubs in making possible the farm pond at the Children's Home, was made at a meeting of the Marion County Welfare Board last night at the Home. Receiving the plaque for the Kiwanis Club was E. L. Mitchell, president, (left) and representing the Y Men's Club was W. D. Hoover, president, (center). Making the presentation was Dr. Frederick W. Rea, president of the Welfare Board. The plaque will be placed in a prominent place at the pond. Due to the rain the presentation was made in the dining room instead of at the pond as planned. Present were members of the two sponsoring clubs.

The pond, which is half an acre in size, is 9½ feet deep at the deep end and three feet in depth at the shallow end. It will be stocked with fish and it is hoped will be available for swimming. Fed by a diversion ditch it is expected enough water will be in the pond by late winter to make skating possible. It is located northeast of the home. No children will be allowed at the pond at any time unless supervised, Gene White, superintendent, said. Following the presentation of the plaque the monthly meeting of the Welfare Board was held and trustees of the Marion County Children's Home Endowment Corporation held a brief session.

State Reports 131 June Traffic Deaths, Increase of 12 Per Cent

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A total of 131 traffic deaths were recorded in Ohio during June of this year—an increase of 12 per cent over the 117 in the same month last year, the Ohio Department of Highway Safety reported today.

At the half-way mark in 1955, traffic deaths in Ohio now total 839 compared with 834 deaths for the same six months' period last year—an increase of 1 per cent.

The department said of the 839 deaths thus far, 601 were the result of rural accidents and 238 were due to accidents inside urban places. Of 601 rural deaths, 444 were chargeable to fatal accidents on rural state highways.

The department's report said for the first six months of the year, 65,612 traffic accidents were reported, an increase of 12 per cent above the 58,337 in the first half of 1954. Persons injured in June accidents numbered 5,862 compared with 5,263 in June 1954. For the first half of this year, the injury toll stands at 31,311 compared with 27,769 injuries in the same 1954 period, an increase of 13 per cent.

At the half-way mark in 1955, statewide motor vehicle travel is estimated at 16.1 billions of miles. The report said on the basis of these figures, the state's death rate per 100 million car-miles is 5.2 compared with 5.4 for the same time last year, a decrease of 4 per cent.

Property damage in June accidents was estimated at $3,950,000, and at $23,200,000 for the six-month period.

Grable Considered Most Non-Typical Of Film Actresses

By JAMES BACON
(For Bob Thomas)

HOLLYWOOD, (AP) — A reader asks: "Who is Hollywood's most level-headed, most down-to-earth, in short, most un-a-c-t-r-e-s-s-y actress?"

Betty Grable is our choice for that title.

"I don't know how I've lasted this long, I'm so dull," Betty once told me in a classic understatement. She was referring to her lack of sensational front-page headlines a la Monroe or Hayworth.

Betty's d-a-i-l-y life could be summed up as a race at breakfast with hubby Harry James over who gets to read the sports section; a lot of time spent with her family and her stable of horses; plus a passion for Harry James records.

The James' social life is about as un-Hollywood as can be. Their friends are mostly of the turf set.

"It's amazing how few movie stars we know," she said. "For instance, the closest I ever came to knowing Clark Gable was when we both had the same dentist."

Betty could well afford to be a conceited actress because she is one of the greatest box office stars in the industry's history.

L-K Confidential

Woodstock, Ontario ... Farmers' Paradise

To me Woodstock, Ontario is a very intriguing little city.

Passing through, it looks like many other small Canadian cities. This little community has numerous claims to fame from the beginning of its history; the thing that intrigues me the most about it, is its farm market center. Almost the entire north shore of Lake Erie is a fabulous market gardening, fruit and tobacco area. According to the city limit signs approaching Woodstock it has a population of 16,500, and it lays almost in the center and on the north line of the market gardening, fruit and tobacco area, approximately 30 miles east of London, Ontario. I have never been able to understand why this area of Canada, considerably farther north than our section of the country, is able to produce such a diversified variety of fine vegetables and fruit, and yet have them ready for market weeks ahead of that produced in our area. It is a genuine pleasure for anyone to pay a visit to this farm market. The market is held every Saturday throughout the season. Farmers come in from all surrounding areas with their produce, fruits, poultry, eggs, meats, all types of dairy products, flowers, etc. The quality of this merchandise is something to behold. I don't believe I have ever seen finer any place. The way the market is handled is another interesting point. In most cases it looks like the entire family comes along to market to help tend their stand. You see farm children from 8 to 10 years of age and up waiting on customers and really doing a good job of selling the produce that in all probability they helped to raise. They are all fine, friendly, co-operative people.

On going up through Canada we always make this one of our stops, where we pick up produce and other supplies to take along to camp. For me I have the same type of difficulty at this farm market that I have eating at the L-K or Nic-Nac. I always overdo it. There is just something about it that lowers my resistance. I heartily recommend that whenever you take a so-journing in this section of Canada that you make it a point to visit the farm market here in Woodstock, Ontario.

Now please don't stop reading here, because this is where I want to put in a good plug for the L-K Drive-In at 449 W. Center and the Nic-Nac Sandwich Shop, opposite the postoffice. The L-K is open 24 hours every day, seven days a week for your convenience, there is also Curb service, beginning early every evening and extending till midnight and after. The L-K and Nic-Nac both have ample parking for your convenience while dining. We would sure appreciate it if you would stop in at either place and give us a try. Just try one of our "Oh Boys" or "Oh Girl" sandwiches.

Now, Mr. Insurance Man, do you have any comments on this column? L of L-K
